'Dirty Yell' Issue Smolders on DVC Campus

Today, five weeks after the event, there is still smoke on Diablo Valley College campus from the now famous bonfire rally allegedly involving "dirty yells."

Student-administration committees met Wednesday to plan a series of workshops which would clear up problems in "communications" which apparently broke down when four yell leaders were relieved of their positions following the rally.

The yell leaders, now on "conduct probation," have been reinstated.

One song leader has resigned, reportedly due to parental pressure. Other resignations may be tendered for the same reason, students at the campus said Wednesday.

"NONE OF the students can remember precisely what was yelled at the rally," commissioner of assemblies Joe Enea reported.

But dean of students Verle C. Henstrand said that the "Hey Laidi Laidi" song was the particularly objectionable part of the rally.

The song, made popular by the Weavers, is a folk song involving spontaneous verses sung out by individuals, followed by a reported chorus.

One example of DVC spontaneity at the rally allegedly referred to the Vi-Queen Songleaders as "those girls dressed in green . . . walking, talking sex machines."

THE SONG itself, Enea claims, was initiated by visiting high school students. "Members of the administration were present," Enea said, "and did nothing indicating their displeasure."

Because of the spontaneous verses, the song need not be led. "It would have been hard to stop it, even if anyone had tried to," Enea claimed.

After the rally, Henstrand said the evening "deteriorated into something which has nothing to do with loyalty to school or team and school spirit per se."

Rallies should provide "an educational experience for students," Henstrand said, and indicated that this one had failed its purpose.

HENSTRAND'S disciplinary action against four of the yell leaders touched off a student reaction which culminated in a town hall meeting on the campus November 9.

By voice vote, students overwhelmingly approved a student council minority recommendation that the yell leaders be reinstated, and that all students disciplined be taken off conduct probation.

At the same time the campus newspaper, The Viking Reporter, editorialized, "The only place where freedom of expression exists on this campus is on the walls of the men's rest rooms."

"We suggest," wrote executive editor Brian Slagle, "that the cheerleaders be allowed complete freedom of expression and that the office of the dean of student personnel (Henstrand) send them a formal letter of apology."

ACCORDING TO Enea, Henstrand has reinstated the yell leaders as yell leaders, but has not changed their probationary status. Henstrand was quoted as announcing that he "agreed immediately to reinstate the yell leaders under a carefully planned yell leading program with Mrs. Dobie as the advisor."

Mrs. Jo Ann Dobie, an instructor at the college, made a statement to the Viking Reporter regarding the newly-created position.

"I am merely acting as a resource person and advisor to the yell leaders and Vi-Queens," she said.

She said that, while she would advise against insulting or obscene yells, she would have no administrative capacity nor disciplinary powers.

STUDENT ACTION following Henstrand's disciplinary move was further complicated by an alleged attempt to push a milder resolution through the student council without notifying several members.

Council member Carl Moore said that he and four other members were not notified of the first special meeting held by the council following the rally.

The meeting was called for 7 a.m. November 8, and, according to student body vice-president Gil Tully, a notice of the meeting was left in the mailbox of each member.

Moore, Art Martin, Jeri Christensen, Enea and Pamela Stewart, however, each said they checked their mail and found no notification.

MOORE, WHO has subsequently withdrawn from school for unrelated reasons, has said that he knows an individual removed the notices from the mailboxes, Enea reported.

This individual is not a member of the council, Enea said, but is close to some members who did attend the meeting.

After challenging the first meeting on procedural grounds, the five "absentees" proposed their resolution at a second meeting.

The milder resolution, submitted by student body president Gary Parker, received a majority vote of the council.

Both resolutions were then presented to students at the town hall meeting where the stronger resolution, initiated by Moore, won out.

WHILE STUDENTS and administration tried to work out their "communication" problems this week, at least two students pointed out an overriding difficulty faced by the college.

"The only time the community takes an interest in the college is when we have a 'McCunn issue' or a so-called dirty rally," said Bob Douglas, commissioner of intercollegiate athletics.

Enea agreed. "Since the McCunn issue, we have been in the spotlight—and yet, at the same time, it seems like we're a forgotten school," he said.

"We are trying to create an identity based on the college as a whole, not on single incidents or factions," he added.

DVC has other problems, too. If rallies have anything to do with victory on the field, the yells will either have to be a lot dirtier or a lot cleaner in the future.

Sun's Man of the Year May Depend Upon You!

Your suggestions for the Sun Man of the Year for 1962 are being studied by committeemen. There is still time to submit recommendations and if desired a brief statement about your candidate.

The successful candidate, a resident of this community, will be honored at a dinner, receive a plaque, be subject of a Sun feature story with photo, and will join a distinguished list of past men (and women!) of the year who were honored by The Sun.

The committee members are completely independent of The Sun, and their decision is made after consultation and consideration of recommendations submitted by the public.

There are many noteworthy persons in our community who have been outstanding during this last year, or else outstanding over a period of years.

Don't wait. Sit down and mail your suggestion to The Sun Man of the Year Committee at our local office. The committee's deadline for picking a candidate draws near.

Announcement of the Sun's 1962 Man of the Year will be made in the December 28 edition.

The choice will be honored later at a dinner, attended by civic leaders and friends.

Orinda Assn. To Name Committee

A permanent volunteer committee of specialists for the development of the Orinda Association's land will be named this month. The association board met Monday at Orinda School.

Principal topic for discussion was public trust in developing the land in the best community interests.

The association's 10-acre parcel on Camino Pablo at Highway 24 "is pretty well nailed down" for the Orinda station of Bay Area Rapid Transit District, according to Bill Stokes, information director for BARTD.

This statement was on the basis of preliminary engineering reports, Stokes added.

Location of the station at this site would be a natural solution for Orinda . . . would make a real transit crossroads . . . and bring all kinds of desirable and economic development to the the area, he stated.

Earliest date for negotiation would be the latter half of next year, said Stokes, who resides in Orinda.

School Evacuated In Bomb Scare Telephone Threat

Acalanes High School students were evacuated to the football field of their school for one hour Wednesday while sheriff's deputies, fire marshals and school officials searched for a bomb allegedly planted in the building.

Evacuation was ordered at 9:30 a.m. after Sue Painter, a student working on the school telephone switchboard, received a call from a male voice demanding, "Let me talk to someone in authority."

Miss Painter gave the call to a teacher who said that "a mature male voice" told her, "There's a bomb planted there."

Investigation by Fire Marshal Shirley Peake, and Deputy Sergeants Brown and Faulkenstrom revealed only the ashes remaining from a fire in a waste basket in the boys' wash room.

One of the suspects, according to Deputy Bob Barrett, is a boy who was on the absentee list Wednesday and has since failed to return to school.

The boy has been implicated in other offenses at the school, but never a bomb threat, Barrett said.

Serving blind men and women for 24 western states and western Canada, Guide Dogs for the Blind is a non-profit organization supported by public donations.

Highly intelligent dogs are bred and trained by Guide Dogs, then are given to deserving blind persons free of charge after four weeks of intensive training together at the school.

Final OK of Recreation Plan at Reservoir Could Come in January

Five Major Steps Are Taken in the Past Week

By GEORGE COLBURN

Five major steps were taken in the past week to open the Lafayette Reservoir for recreational use.

1) On Wednesday, November 21, the 37-man Citizens Advisory Committee on Proposed Recreational Use of EBMUD Reservoirs, approved the Hector recreation plan for the local reservoir and for Chabot Reservoir.

2) On Friday, EBMUD's board of directors approved the action of the committee and authorized general manager John MacFarland to apply for an amended water supply permit from the State Department of Health.

3) Wednesday, MacFarland submitted Hector's recreation plan to the health department.

4) H. B. Foster Jr., a member of the 12-man executive or "working" committee of the Citizens Advisory Committee, told EBMUD Property Planner John Malloy a decision could be expected on the application before mid-January, when the advisory group will meet again.

Because he has worked along with the committee that helped to develop the report, the application will be processed more quickly than usual, Malloy said. "Usually these things take up to six months," he pointed out.

5) Also, Malloy and Duane Mattison, park director for Contra Costa County, are expected to meet next week to discuss the possibility of the county taking over operation of the reservoir and the designated recreational area of 380 acres around it on a lease basis.

WILLIAM MOTT, director of East Bay Regional Park District, told the advisory committee that his district was ready to take over the operation of Chabot reservoir once final approval has been given to the project.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen quickly followed up Mott's announcement to the committee, to say Contra Costa County will be glad to meet with EBMUD to try and work out some plan of operating the Lafayette Reservoir.

Nielsen represents the supervisors on the committee.

He reported to the board Tuesday and said that he believed the county should be allowed to lease the reservoir for a nominal fee of $1 per year.

Nielsen said the county should continue its recently adopted "pay as you go" policy for recreation development in regard to the reservoir.

Following the preliminary meeting between Malloy and Mattison next week, a full-scale meeting between the Contra Costa County Park and Recreation commission and the EBMUD board of directors is expected.

NIELSEN told The Sun that he hoped Mattison and Malloy would work out an operational plan that would be "acceptable."

Nielsen said he would recommend to the supervisors that the county take over operation of the reservoir if EBMUD and the county recreation department reach agreement.

Nielsen said the county cannot afford to develop the reservoir on the basis of the Hector Plan for the area. "We will have to take a longer time and do it on a limited basis," Nielsen said.

Recently Mattison told a group of Lafayette residents that he believed the county could open the reservoir on a very limited basis, spending far less for original development than the Hector Plan indicated and it could be done quickly—once the county and EBMUD agreed on who would operate the area.

Any change in the Hector Plan would have to come from the agency operating the reservoirs, Malloy said. Then approval of EBMUD would be needed because the district is still responsible for the water supply in the reservoir.

IN LAFAYETTE this will mean that the Lafayette Sailing Club and persons urging the community center to move to the reservoir property will have to wait some time before their plans can be finalized.

The admittedly limited Hector Plan was drawn up to get "things off the ground," Malloy said.

No date has been set for the January meeting of the advisory committee, Malloy said.

The meeting likely will be set after the application for a change of water permit has been processed. This would enable the committee to decide on a recommendation to send EBMUD directors on the issue of voting.

If the permit is approved, directors can either declare the reservoirs open or ask the voters within the district to decide.

ALSO, MALLOY said, the committee will likely discuss further the Hector Plan, which was postponed at last week's meeting pending approval of the water permit.

Any Ideas for Memorial To Founder of Orinda?

Possible sites for a memorial to E. I. de Laveaga, founder of Orinda, were discussed by the memorial committee early this week. They called for further ideas from the community.

The three most logical sites, if property were obtainable, would be on or near the library, post office or country club, according to the committee.

Committee members are: Ed Amatrone, president Orinda Chamber of Commerce; R. W. Leiber, vice-president; Ewart Phair, Orinda Beautification Committee; Janet Vaughan, Orinda-Lafayette Soroptimist Club; Paul Fanning, Orinda Association; Ken White and Clarence Betz, Orinda Chamber of Commerce; Leighton MacGregor, Orinda Rotary, and Ken Courtright, Orinda Lions.

"These sites are merely suggestions put forth by committee members. We would appreciate receiving any other suggestions as to location or type of memorial. Such suggestions should be directed to the chamber, P.O. Box 277," said Betz.

"The committee feels that since E. I. deLaveaga established the townsite, built the country club; something in memory of what he did is fitting and proper in this delightful community," said Betz.

THE COUNTRY CLUB site discussed by the committee was proposed on the village side of the bridge, going toward San Pablo.

The committee plans to meet again next month and Betz expressed hope that suggestions from the community would be forthcoming before that time.

Orinda Assn. Opposes Gas Station No. 10

Norcal's application for a land use permit for an Enco station in Orinda Village will come before the county planning commission's board of adjustment Tuesday night, December 4.

Lafayette's gas station No. 21 will come before the board of adjustment the same night for a decision. This will be a closed hearing.

The local association's action came at a time when the new construction of gas stations in the entire central county has come under critical scrutiny by many groups. The Walnut Creek City Council recently acted to prevent location of a new station in downtown Walnut Creek.

County Speeds Road Repairs

Emergency authority was granted this week to repair two of the hardest hit roads in the county by the "100 year storm."

Under requests initiated by Public Works Director Victor Sauer, emergency measures were approved for El Toyonal, Orinda, and Pinehurst Road, Canyon.

Tuesday, the county board of supervisors authorized Sauer to intermittently close El Toyonal from November 27 to December 7 to permit "the accomplishment of repairs and replacement of drainage structures damaged by recent storms."

THE CLOSURES will occur between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. at only one location at a time, according to Sauer. Access to the remainder of the road, during the closure will be available from either end of the road, he said.

On the county's priority list of repairs to be made due to storm damage, El Toyonal was number one. This was in the vicinity of 208 El Toyonal, where the Temple Packard home was devastated by mud flow.

OTHER AREAS on the county's priority list are two slip-outs at El Toyonal at Camino del Ciello and El Toyonal at El Rincon.

Paul Kilkenny, assistant county public works director, expressed hope that Canyon's Pinehurst Road would be open for temporary use within a week or 10 days.

The Board of Supervisors waived a $5000 limit on contract jobs, meaning that the public works department can negotiate with contractors, rather than calling for bids on work costing more than $5000.

Kilkenny said that there are a number of culvert replacements to be made in addition to the major slip-out.

The much-used Moraga-to-Oakland cut-off has been closed as a thoroughfare since the storm. Residents have been unable to drive through the canyon to Oakland, although they have had access to their homes from Moraga except for October 13.

Sauer pointed out the emergency waiver was made following the floods of 1955 and 1958. He said he will seek more than one bid wherever possible, but added that contractors are especially busy with their own jobs right now.

Nippy Nights For Orindans

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

My Cup of Tea . . .

TOMORROW starts the Season to be jolly . . . Thanksgiving time, most of us were off to a good start wearing our heart on our sleeve, a smile on our face & a cranberry stain or a pumpkin pie spot down our front.

THE TEMPO suddenly changes as the turkey takes his place on the platter . . . It's the Think of You time: The time when strangers smile at one another, when the Golden Rule regulates our lives more than any other time of the year . . . & like one lady said, "The one time of year you really ARE thankful for all of your relatives . . ."

IT MIGHT be getting colder outside but everyone's feeling warmer inside . . . There is, however, a general resentment of the rush, rush of the season & there ought to be a law against the premature commercial christening of store counters, catalogs, etc., at least until AFTER Thanksgiving.

YEP! It's that Season & if you think Broadway Center's Santa Clauses are especially good this year (or especially hammy), peek under the old boy's whiskers. In a smart move, the Center has recruited the talents of Dramateurs members & Bruce & Tish Winkworth all got up as Mr. & Mrs. Santa Claus make a "darling couple," to quote an enthralled mother on the Santa-sidelines.

OKAC, so you ARE too big to sit on Santa's knee (just because it's Bruce) . . . or if you took the tots out last Monday, you might have found Charlotte Chapple or George Meyer (the Mayor in "Inherit the Wind") doing the Santa stint. At any rate, could MACY'S do BETTER?

Well, anything CAN happen now . . . we even saw a Pilgrim in the local drug store Thanksgiving Eve . . . but of course it was Moore Pilgrim buying a box of candy for the Miles Standishes who were expected for dinner. That's what HE said.

YOU CAN TELL it's that time again because the Bowles' boys are bowled over w/dates, dates & more dates (of the edible variety) & on their rounds for sale of same . . . Then there are the Hendersons coping w/all those NUTS! Shelled & unshelled & ready for mailing in bright burlap bags. Which is a good thing to do w/NUTS. Bag 'em & mail 'em.

OVER at 15 La Plaza, Teddy Gardner, Orinda artist, is busy rounding up a potpourri of stuff & nonsense for a "sale party" this Sunday, December 2, 10-4. Shocking pink invites bid friends to come see Arts and Zebras; paintings, watercolors, enamels, ugly dishes, beautiful pots. A few old "Old Republicans" are offered for sale too, but maybe that implies to the "ornaments & banners" of the GOP . . . The 'joyful junk' to go on the auction block also includes a reducing machine. The ladies will have a ball. Men, too, maybe!

YES, Life is just a bowl of Cranberries unless it's that 550-lb. wheel of cheese carried into Phair's by Three Men & A Boy (Hi, Don!) It took some doing to take the first cutting off the mammoth Tilamook & what a hatbox that wooden container would make, however heady one's hats would become.

While we're at Phair's, doesn't clerk Bert Babcock remind you of Broadway's Russell Nype? You know the type . . . Ditto Gene Estes w/his nice grin & glasses & where ARE you, June & Gene? We know where Hans Schnittler is or was from chatting w/wife Claire in Phair's . . . Sporting a Norwegian sweater & pushing Martha Ann in the cart, Claire told us Hans was off in Saigon & other faraway places. Gadding the globe for shipping biz, he'll be home for Christmas . . .

HOORAY! We won, wot surprise!, the Christmas Cargoes' trip for two to heavenly Highlands Inn . . . We'll do some Christmas shopping in Carmel while the Albert Marksteins will spend their pesos in Mexico where they're vacashing . . . The Mel Neilsens ducked to Disneyland for Thanksgiving & the Dick Hales did the Death Valley route.

JIMMIE BARNES of the Pink Door was presented a handsome copy of the new book about Russia's prima ballerina Ulanova from wife Lorraine . . . so the two of 'em drove up Napa Valley way, sought out Albert Kahn, author of book & got the edition autographed, not to mention a most hospitable afternoon in front of the fireplace at the Kahns' cozy country place.

The Norman Parkers celebrating their anniversary along w/Eva's mother's anniversary at Sac Inn recently, decided to have That Special Song played. Approaching the Music, Maestro, our little Eva made a request for The Anniversary Waltz to be played for "My Mother's Seventh Anniversary" . . . When the ork leader scratched his head, Eva added "& ours, too. The 27th . . ." The music man asked if it wasn't the other way around & when Eva said, "No," (not going into detail about her Mom's second marriage), he rolled his eyes, reached in his pocket, pulled out a piece of bubble gum & said "Okay, Baby . . ."

HEINZ BRINES: If you hear that EVERYBODY got pickled at the party the Harvey Williamses threw recently, well, it's true . . . Jim Davison set up a corner full of pickle barrels & from jumbos to jherkins, everybody got pickled plenty. Almost 57 varieties!

WESTWARD, HO! WHOA! Our last storm communique from the Happy Valley hinterlands concerns the husband who on the night of the Big Storm & Traffic Jam, decided to wait it out awhile at the Bohemian Club . . . Around 8, he started homeward but hearing things were still thick over the radio, he decided the best way home (Smart Boy) was via San Pablo Dam Road from the Bayshore freeway. Paid his bridge fare & the next thing he noticed he was flying past The Nut Tree . . . He'd missed THAT turn & also paid a second bridge toll, thinking it was still the SFBaybridge. Applying a bit of strategy, he took a turnoff to Martinez along the line & got lost in Concord, missed more freeway turnoffs & wound up on his threshold, "Honest, Honey!" at 5:45 A.M.

SIGN AT ORCHARD NURSERY: "Shhhhh. 1 pack Wilkinson Blades per customer but don't tell everybody!"

WELCOME WAGON'S Ann Pollazecek turned up on the doorstep of the Viggo Dyrebergs, newcomers from Denmark to the Orchard Road area, w/her hospitable Hello & her little goodies . . . Chatting w/the charming Aase, Ann learned that the Dyrbergs were from Hellerup, a suburb of Copenhagen & discovered they lived in the same part of town as Ann's sister. Everything being relative, or everyone in this case, Aase's sister, Jytte Buffington has lived in Orinda 4 yrs. Another nice discovery made during the VALKOMMEN visit was that the Dyrbergs just sort of "fall into" a house being vacated by a family who were going to Italy to live for the same period of time the D.'s would be in this country. What's more, the house furnished was not only well supplied w/toys for the Dyrberg's children, but the family felt right at home. In a house full of Danske furniture!

SPEAKING of Scandinavians, this being the Think of You time, Genevieve Syverud says she thinks of ME when she makes Springerle & I in turn, think of Jenny Holm whose recipe I use for Krumkake w/now . . . Anyone for Fattigman . . . or Aebleskivver? Gotcha on those? Good!

SANTA MARIA Church starts its sale of Christmas Trees on the premises via the Dads' Club next Saturday . . . Choice varieties of trees, garlands, wreaths, etc. . . .

Congratulations to Charles Eldred, Bob Lee who recently made the Eagle Scout ranks . . . Indians on the loose: Lilliput Kindergarteners sporting Indian headgear, painted (macaroni) beads & oatmeal-carton drums in celebration of our traditional Day of Thanks. (Smart teacher!)

SATURDAY NIGHT SIGHTEM: The Orinda Theater's sound track goofing up & theatergoers, after a patient wait for the fixit-man to arrive, lining up for their money back. After listening to a 2 hr. discourse about the comic movie, methinks it was "ZOTZ" the magic word, that literally botched things up. The movie "ZOTZ" is one of those "Flubber" & "Shaggy Dog" stories & I'll never again ask on 11 yr. old "How was the movie?" . . . Now I've GOT to see it!

BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN: The Robert Christiansens gave a rousing Guy Fawkes party in the true Briton manner. Over a hundred guests present for the traditional burning of the old boy—

Miramonte Mirror

Sadie Hawkins to Reign Over Miramonteens

By KAREN STAFFORD AND JACKIE EDENHOLM

Tonight the traditional Sadie Hawkins Dance will be in full swing starting at 8 p.m. and ending at 11 p.m. in the Miramonte cafeteria. Remember to dress "in style" or you will not be admitted to the dance!

After school today the Matadors will play their first basketball game of the season with Berkeley High.

Last weekend or, we should say four-day weekend, seemed to be an enjoyable one from what we've heard.

Wednesday night was apparently show time for many of the junior girls who invaded the Rheem theater. Linda Hotchkiss—"Boogie Man"—hm-m-m-m. Hallowe'en is over, Linda!

Jim Kain's house was the site of a party Friday night. There was only one thing wrong—no music! After that problem was remedied the party began to liven. Some of those dancing and having a great time were Tom Archer and Linda Rice, Greg LeGrand and Candy Jacobs, Mary White, Bill Cunningham, Steve Greyhouse, and Joanne Boysen and Steve Gannon.

The same evening quite a few senior girls could be seen at the Student Union dance in Berkeley. They included Nancy Baker, Nancy Brailsford, Barb Bagley, Karen Van Voorhis, Liz Finley and Claudia Powell.

After the Big Game many Miramonteens made Cal their destination for the evening and many had a good time joining in on the festivities. Among those seen around the campus were Rick Cannon and Diane Moss, Debbie Williams and Chip Smith, George Hauer and Lani Freeman, Doug Knudsen and Joan Dirickx, Bruce Nickerson and Nancy Englehart, Bob Williams and Carolyn Coburn, John Lackey and Kitty Mika, Phil Grant and Nancy Bregar, Paul Locklin and Mimi Loomis, Kent Miller, Dean Hilger and Larry Lahmann.

Saturday night Byrnace Thrailkill and Gary Rose went to dinner at the Kaiser Building in Oakland and from there to the Berkeley ice rink, as they had planned. But it seems that Gary changed his mind . . . after they had already paid to get in! Oh well, maybe some other time, Byrnace.

The interesting sights of Sausalito with its Bohemian atmosphere were thoroughly enjoyed by two couples, Rick Keating and Sally Skaggs, and Mike LaPlant and Katy Jones. They toured the small town and later in the day Mike and Katy could be seen standing on the Golden Gate Bridge viewing the setting sun and San Francisco.

Joanne Warner spent a wonderful four-day weekend with Ron Kaye, who was home from Willamette for Thanksgiving. They went to dinner at Si's Wednesday and afterward to see "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?"

Two Orinda teens who did some traveling during the Thanksgiving weekend were Kay Williams and Gayle Baker. Kay spent the weekend at Tahoe with her parents and was lucky enough to see Harry Belafonte perform. Gayle, on the other hand, went to Winters, California, during the holiday. I think Gayle would have liked to know where a certain M. A. was when it came time to come home.

The weekend was devoted mostly to football. Not only did many Miramonte students go to the Big Game at Cal, but a few senior and junior girls were seen Friday and Saturday playing football at Miramonte in preparation for the "big" junior-senior football game.

A few of our teens at the Cal-Stanford game Saturday were Alison Stampley, Sue Fernsten, Doug Marsh, Meredith Brown, Peggy Rose, Bruce Nickerson, Bob Williams, Dewey Boyer, Bob Lester, Joan Dirckx, Pam Ferguson, Mary White, Doug Knudsen, Ken Hamberg, Norris Widener, and Fran Obrecht.

Some of the girls at Miramonte practicing to "Stomp the Seniors" on Saturday were Chris Campbell, Karen Nattress, Carol Meyer, Kate Ellis, Ann Cunningham, Judy Trumbly and Ann White. With such coaches as George Rauer, Mike Gilmore and Greg Legrand, how can they lose????

Saturday night Beth Shepherd and Jim Lewis went to San Francisco after a picnic. Also in San Francisco were Joan Barnes and Bob Lyman, and Jay Grilli and his date. The foursome went to Sutro's, a museum near the Cliff House, to see the "yummie mummies." Jay entertained the group during the long ride home by singing.

Nancy Allen and Steve Perry, Joanne Boysen and Steve Gannon had a picnic in Tilden Park during the weekend. Hope you enjoyed the food, boys!!!

December 8 at 2 p.m., the Ailanthus Branch of Children's Hospital of the East Bay will present "Fashion Fantasy" at the Masonic Auditorium. Tickets for $1.50 can be obtained from any member of Ailanthus. By the way, there will be drawings for door prizes!

'Mary, Mary' Back in SF

One of the biggest hits in Broadway history, Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary," is returning to San Francisco's Curran Theatre for another engagement of two weeks, starting December 15, produced by Roger L. Stevens.

The comedy was directed by Joseph Anthony with William Ross as the associate director.

During its engagement of five weeks this past summer, "Mary, Mary" echoed the accolades showered upon it in New York and in the other cities where this national company has been seen.

The demand for tickets during the last two weeks of its engagement had been such, that a return engagement was almost a necessity.

Sharing star billing are Patricia Smith, Jeffrey Lynn and John Lasell, with featured roles portrayed by Clinton Sundberg and Heddie Bates.

SANDY ADAMS of Pleasant Hill and Daliel Leite of Walnut Creek, will play lead roles in the Shaw satire, Androcles and the Lion, which will go on the boards at Diablo Valley College's Viking Theater tonight.

Family of the Week

CHARLES AND CLAIRE CRAIG
Children: Claudia, Chic and Chris

The Caroling Starts . . .

BELOVED Christmas carols are dusted off for an evening of song in the household of Charles and Claire Craig shown here with their youngsity Women this fall will be violin; and Chic and Chris sharing the piano bench.

Music plays a major part in family life here and no better time to share it and enjoy it than the coming yuletide season.

THE HEAD of the house, "Chuck" as he's called, remembers back to his glee club days at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland when Fred Waring's idolized singing group was imitated by campus choral clubs all over the country. A mechanical engineer with Crown - Zellerbach, Chuck finds it fun and relaxing participating in a family concert. The same goes for Claire, another Clevelander, who's a firm believer in music having charms. Though she's not an instrumentalist, her receptive ear is a highly appreciative one and is tuned in to the talents of the couple's trio of youngsters who are all diligent music students.

CLAUDIA, 17, has played violin with the Berkeley Young People's Symphony for the past four years. She is concertmistress of the Orinda Community Church orchestra as well as a member of the string section of the Miramonte High School Orchestra. (Her mother was one of those helping to organize the group and served as first-year treasurer for "Friends of the Orchestra" at Miramonte.)

Chic, 16 (he's a Charles, too) and Chris, 14 (Christine) were weaned on Souza marches and Ferde Grofe's Grand Canyon Suite as was Claudia. When the three were tiny tots, their father built for them their own hi-fi record player so they grew up on good music along with the nursery rhymes. Chic and Chris continue their musical prowess as pupils of the piano and summers, they've all had the thrill of participating in music in the redwood setting of the Church Music Camp at Cazadero.

The Craigs are sponsors of the Young People's Symphony and spend any spare time looking for local musical events they can take in together. "Deck the halls with boughs of holly . . . Fa, la, la, la, la . . ."

Martinez Moved Closer: Freeway

Except for a gap now filled by one mile of congested Contra Costa Boulevard in Pleasant Hill, motorists now have a "clear shot" on State Route 21 towards the Martinez-Benicia Bridge.

An additional 4½ miles of the freeway, between Willow Pass Road in Concord and Arthur Road in Martinez, opened Sunday.

A branch from this section to Highway 24 in North Concord is also included in the "gap" contract, let this summer.

Until the gap is filled, motorists will continue to use Pleasant Hill's busy boulevard where traffic problems increased this week as preparations for a road-widening project went on.

Northbound motorists leaving Pleasant Hill will be warned by signs that they should not pick up the freeway at Willow Pass Road but another mile north at Concord Avenue.

Eastbound traffic on Willow Pass would otherwise be forced to turn left in the path of westbound cars in order to reach the freeway.

Westbound traffic, which crosses a high bridge over Walnut Creek channel just before this point, would lack safe sighting distance to the turning cars, the Division of Highways explained.

Teddy Gardner To Have Art Sale

Teddy Gardner, Orinda artist, will have a sale of art works Sunday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m., at the Oliver Gardner residence, 15 La Plaza, Orinda.

Shocking-pink hand-screened invitations urged prospective buyers or browsers to "come see the zebra" included in the sale of everything from "Arts to Zebrbas."

Humorously mixed in with the well-known artist's handmade jewelry, enamels and oil paintings are "ugly dishes, beautiful pots, Old Republican ornaments, banners, joyful junk, etc."

THE ROSY GLOW of press-agentry which permeated the Seattle World's Fair before and during its existence was right there at the end, too. This week The Sun received a handsome certificate, properly embossed with the Space Needle, "in recognition of outstanding service to the Seattle World's Fair" (the last part in large black capital letters).

The only printed material The Sun carried on the fair was a column written by one of its staffers panning it in no uncertain terms!

RETREATING TO THE FAIRMONT, Catholic laywomen from nine Bay Area counties have selected the Terrace Room of the San Francisco hotel for their annual Retreat Association Communion Breakfast next Sunday.

WHO NEEDS BROADWAY? After the superb performance of "West Side Story" put on by students at Pleasant Hill High School last night (and continuing this week end) we are reminded of the statistics quoted by W. Grant Gray, the school's director-choreographer. According to a recent survey, says Gray, not more than two million Americans see professional plays of Broadway caliber regularly.

But in one year, 18 to 25 millions view the 75,000 full-length plays presented by American high schools!

THE BURGEE that's so much more refreshing — at least, in Lafayette — is the triangular flag designed for boats flying the new Lafayette Sailing Club pennant. This burgee will have a field of gold with a blue block "L" on a white triangle. Club members hope to have it hoisted from sailboats on the Lafayette Reservoir by next June.

NEW NATIONAL board member for Campfire Girls is Dr. Kent Friel of Orinda, according to an announcement from New York this week. He will serve along with Mrs. Anthony J. Celebrezze, wife of the U.S. secretary for health, education and welfare, who is national secretary.

Aim of the group this year is to expand its membership so that all races, faiths, nationalities and economic levels of the country are represented. First step was to raise Camp Fire annual membership dues from $1 to $2!

THERE'S ONLY ONE Pleasant Hill, but Mayor Robert Nelson of Walnut Creek kept wanting to make it more. In a very cordial gesture to the new city on its first birthday, Mayor Nelson presented "to the City of Pleasant Hills" a scrapbook full of clippings of news stories on the development of "Pleasant Hills." Mayor Grote was very pleased and touched, but nevertheless he felt it necessary to correct Nelson. Calling it "Pleasant Hills" is like saying "Frisco" instead of San Francisco. Or doesn't the mayor of Almond City know that?

A SLIGHTLY USED BLONDE wig may soon be on the market. The whole thing came to a head when a local beauty parlor operator gave a hair coloring to a local blonde. The coloring job caused some mild breakage to the blonde's hair.

The salon owner agreed to buy her an expensive wig. She picked it out. But when she was asked to sign legal clearance, the blonde backed down and threatened a suit.

Now the salon owner may counter-sue because of a California law which states that wigs are not returnable.

MOTORIST, MEET THE SNAKE. A new detour on the Highway 24 approach to Caldecott Tunnel is expected to open Wednesday, if the weather holds. Exaggerated in this diagram, the 500-foot-radius bulge actually touches existing pavement at all points. The tight turn is just east of another 500-foot-radius detour opened last month. Division of Highways Resident Engineer Fred Campbell warns that the snake, made up of the combined detours, will probably be more difficult to navigate than the "kink."

Sun Diagram by Gene Shehorn

Big 'Bad' Detour Opens Soon

Commuter routes between the central county area and points west are beginning to resemble, at least in name, an amusement park.

Commuters have contended with the "hump", late of the Bay Bridge, the "kink" on Highway 24, and now face a detour they will doubtless christen "the snake."

Scheduled to open next Wednesday, the snake is a section of Highway 24 between Orinda and Caldecott Tunnel which will be bulged northward for about a month while an 84-inch drainage pipe is installed beneath the roadway.

The job will be done in three phases:

1. East and west-bound traffic will be moved north almost off existing pavement, starting next week.

2. In two to three weeks, eastbound traffic will go back to the present route, but westbound traffic will still move through the snake while pipe is laid in a center section of the roadway.

3. When the center section of pipe is laid, in five or six weeks, westbound traffic will move back to the present route, and the snake will be scotched.

THE AMUSEMENT park analogy, however, stops with the names motorists give to unusual sections of roadway.

No one, from the Division of Highways to the California Highway Patrol, to the individual motorist, is amused by the thrill-rides created by freeway construction and improvement.

Fred Campbell, Division of Highways resident engineer on the Orinda-Caldecott job, reports that the new detour "will probably be the worst in the entire project."

Officer Linton Jones of the California Highway Patrol, this week, pointed out a marked increase in accidents between Camino Pablo and the tunnel during the last two months.

And The Sun has received numerous suggestions from motorists that something be done to uncork traffic bottlenecks in the area.

THE NEW detour, Campbell explained, is a tight 500-foot-radius curve at its central point, and should not be driven faster than 35 mph. The length of the entire project is now posted for that speed.

Commuters, Campbell said, rarely have a chance to go that fast at rush hour.

But motorists using the road at off-peak hours could easily be thrown by the detour if they exceed the posted speed, Campbell said.

The problem is complicated by the existing detour to the west, also a 500-foot-radius curve, he said.

ACCIDENTS between Orinda and the tunnel have doubled in some months, compared to last year, according to Officer Jones.

In October there were 12 accidents between Camino Pablo and the tunnel, compared to six for the same period last year.

Half of those 12 occurred before torrential rains increased hazards and eventually closed the route, Jones said.

Few, if any, of the accidents occurred within detour areas, reports indicate, but many were probably caused by the sudden slowing of traffic at detours.

PRIMARY CAUSES for the accidents, exactly half injury and half non-injury, were undue speed, lane changing and inattentiveness, the reports said. Jones explained that each cause could be related to the sudden slowing of traffic.

Undue speed, he said, could in some cases be only 10 or 15 mph. Lane changing accidents occurred frequently when a motorist swerves to one side to avoid the car in front of him.

While a driver might get away with inattentiveness in some situations, it is extraordinarily dangerous in heavily detoured traffic.

FROM SUN READERS have come many complaints of so-called right-angle turns in the project, and various suggestions to ease the problem. (See separate story in this section.)

On one point both Campbell and motorist Bill Pence of Lafayette agree: less cars, please.

While Campbell suggests that motorists should form more car pools, at least when conditions are especially poor, Pence points out that other commute routes into the area are becoming more and more attractive.

Campbell noted that car pools were used increasingly immediately following the storm which totally, then partially, closed the tunnel.

"After the tunnel was open full time, however, we saw more and more single-driver cars back on the road," Campbell said.

PENCE, A COMMUTER for the past five years, said that he and members of his car pool were able to make better time between the Bay Bridge toll plaza and the Orinda crossroads by using San Pablo Dam Road rather than Highway 24 through the tunnel.

Grizzly Peak, above Berkeley, is another good route, Pence said.

He suggested that Fish Ranch Road could be made more attractive to motorists if a "switch lane" (suggested earlier by Bernard F. Trimpe) were used east of the tunnel at evening rush hour.

Such a lane, Pence said, would simply take one lane from westbound traffic and give it to eastbound traffic during certain hours.

The outside eastbound lane of Highway 24 could then be used primarily for cars feeding off Fish Ranch Road immediately southeast of the tunnel portal.

Suicides: Experts Will Probe a Growing Problem

A Los Angeles psychiatrist who helped probe the tragic death of screen star Marilyn Monroe, will be the keynote speaker at a unique "Suicide Crisis" workshop at Diablo Valley College tomorrow.

He is Dr. Edwin W. Shneidman, co-director of the Suicide Prevention Clinic of Los Angeles, and associate clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of Southern California's School of Medicine.

Dr. Shneidman, co-author of Clues to Suicide and the Cry for Help, will have as his topic, Suicide Crisis: Taboo and Prevention.

Also on the program will be Dr. Jerome A. Motto, instructor of psychiatry at the University of California's School of Medicine, and member of the faculty of the Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute. His subject will be, Suicide Problem and Scope.

A special feature of the workshop will be a premiere showing of the film The Cry For Help, which deals with recognition of suicide symptoms, treatment, and prevention.

The workshop is primarily for members of the professions encountering the suicide problem, including lawyers, doctors, the clergy, educators, nurses and welfare workers, mental health people, policemen, firemen and newspapermen.

Suicide—successful, attempted and threatened — is a growing problem in Contra Costa County, workshop planning committee members point out.

In 1960-1961, for example, 59 successful suicides were logged, along with 600 attempts and threats.

The workshop will be conducted from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. with two dollars registration fee which will also cover the cost of luncheon.

The session was planned by police chiefs, Charles Brown of Richmond, George Yool of Kensington, E. A. Carlson of Antioch, Sal J. Jimmo of Pittsburg and Patrol Leutenant H. E. Hobert of the sheriff's office in cooperation with at least seven participating agencies.

Commuter Speed-up Plans Refuted by State

The California Division of Highways responded this week to two suggestions offered by Sun readers in hopes of alleviating traffic problems in the Caldecott Tunnel-Orinda area.

The ideas, proposed by Bernard F. Trimpe, 3674 Hastings Court, Lafayette, with additions by Bill Pence, 3376 Ridge Road, Lafayette, were politely turned down after study by the division.

Jack Grassburger of the division told The Sun that the suggestions were not new. State engineers have received identical proposals in October, 1959, and April, 1960.

TRIMPE proposed that one of three westbound lanes between the tunnel and Orinda be given over to eastbound traffic at evening rush hours.

His plan was seconded by Pence, who added a suggestion that the extra rush hour lane would permit better access from Fish Ranch Road. Pence said that an outside eastbound lane reserved initially for Fish Ranch Road traffic would draw more commuters over the hill rather than through the tunnel.

TO WHAT became one complete plan, Grassburger responded with the findings of various division departments:

1. Caldecott Tunnel is now operating at peak capacity. Latest count indicates a rush hour flow of 1800 cars per hour in each eastbound lane.

This, Grassburger said, is a very high capacity, compared, for example, to the Pozzi Tube, which carries 1200 cars per lane per hour.

Thus, even if traffic sped up east of the tunnel in the evening, cars would still come through the tunnel at about the same rate. Caldecott 3 is expected to double rush hour capacity.

2. IN ORDER to improve, on an interim basis, access from Fish Ranch Road, a new contract would have to be let to:

a) add an outside lane at the Fish Ranch intersection. This would require a cut of perhaps 20 feet into a hill southwest of this point.

The present contract includes plans to relocate the Fish Ranch access road to the east, supported by the hill which would have to be cut for an interim plan.

b) tear out an existing highway divider extending from the tunnel to beyond the entrance of Fish Ranch Road.

c) sandblast existing pavement lines which would be replaced by movable traffic guides. The California Highway Patrol recommends against asking motorists to cross a painted double line. Such crossing created hazards on the old Carquinez bridge, according to CHP.

3. TO PROVIDE three lanes leading onto the completed freeway west of Orinda is impossible at this time, due to culverting and retaining wall work in progress at the end of the project.

Grassburger said expansion into the existing median strip for the added lane would be costly, and, if completed, dangerous to traffic from both directions.

4. The work required for the interim project would create an extremely hazardous situation of detours within detours as the separate contracts are completed.

The added work would further slow traffic during the construction period.

GRASSBURGER THEN made a few suggestions of his own. "It's going to be worse on that road before it gets better," he said.

"The suggestion from Bill Pence is a good one: commuters should give more consideration to alternate routes."

More car pools and "less rubbernecking," Grassburger said, would also help the situation.

"Commuters probably are less prone to slow down to watch equipment than other drivers, but this is a problem directly affecting traffic flow in that area," he said.

TRIMPE'S SUGGESTION led The Sun into a perhaps esoteric discussion of "tunnel behavior" last week.

This week Trimpe replied that "there is no evidence people slow down when entering a tunnel."

Pence, in his letter, indicated that the opposite is the case in the evening, when motorists leaving the dark road for the relatively bright tunnel speed up slightly.

Trimpe cited the Lincoln and Holland Tunnels in New York as exemplary. Policemen are stationed to make sure motorists obey "Maintain 35 Mile Speeds" signs placed inside the tunnels, he said.

A study reported in Newsweek magazine this week indicates that during recent tests in Holland Tunnel traffic was found to move best "at the surprisingly modest speed of 19 mph."

The study also revealed that "a slowdown was developing at the foot of an upgrade in the tunnel," Newsweek said.

The slowdown reportedly started a deceleration chain-reaction and eventually caused stoppages of five to seven minutes.

During the study, the slowdown was alleviated by feeding a certain number of cars per minute into the tunnel.

Chinchilla Show to Open

The Northern California Chinchilla Breeders Association will hold its 15th annual chinchilla show, open to all ranchers, at the Walnut Creek Recreation Building, City Park, on Sunday.

Registration will be from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

Judges will be Bill Berlin, Renaldo Pepi and Grant Wooge.

Mrs. Gene Conklin, show chairman, announced that the show will be free and open to the public and that sandwiches and refreshments will be available at the snack bar.

Shaw's 'Lion' Roars Tonight At DV College

George Bernard Shaw's Androcles and The Lion will be presented by Harvey Berman's Viking Players at Diablo Valley College's Viking Theater in a series of 11 performances opening tonight.

Eight of the performances will be for the general public, with others reserved for audiences composed of drama students from high schools served by the college in the central section of the county. The public performances will be given November 30-December 1; December 6-7-8, 13-14-15.

Viking Theater seats only 98. Advance reservations by phone or mail are urged. Tickets are 50 cents for students and $1 for the public. Curtain time for all performances is 8:30 p.m.

BIOLOGY-ART-HISTORY — Miramonte High biology teacher Otis McCain, right, supervises student participation in a recent Miramonte Unified Disciplines Seminar field trip. Students are taking water samples for analysis, painting the scenery of the Mother Lode, and checking their location on historic maps and survey graphs as part of the weekend tour of the California gold country. It was planned by teachers to give pupils in social studies, art and science a practical workshop and lab experience, coordinated with regular classroom work.

Miramonteens Visit Gold Rush Sites on Field Trip

(Editor's note: The following article is reprinted from Miramonte High School's paper "The Mirador.")

A gold rush town, the Moaning Cave, and the land of the celebrated jumping frog were the objects of study for this year's participants in the Miramonte Unified Disciplines Seminar field trip.

THE GROUP spent a recent weekend in the gold rush country of the '49ers as they studied the country along State Highway 49.

The MUDS participants left Miramonte by bus Friday and drove to Nevada City. They spent the night at the National Hotel, one of the town's historic points of interest. The next morning the group explored the town, soaking up the leisurely present and the hectic past of the Gold Rush Era.

On Saturday and Sunday, MUDS visited the town of Angels' Camp in Calaveras County, home of Mark Twain's famous jumping frog. They went to the restored gold rush town of Columbia, which is now part of a state park. It was there that the majority of the photographic work was done. The students tried to capture on film the feeling of 113 years ago.

THE SEMINAR group also visited the Stanislaus River and the Moaning Cave, which is a large underground cavern of great natural beauty.

The trip was marked with one mishap. While going over a dusty, back-road detour, the MUDS' bus developed a hole in the radiator. After plugging the hole, water was "imported" from the American River which was "quite a ways" from the road.

Hats Off To...

A LEI OF ISLAND orchids, please, for Mrs. Ritchie (Claire) Ward, prominent civic leader, community resident and clubwoman who has watched Orinda's growing pains, held its hand and nursed its problems along always with a spirit of hope and optimism.

A former director of the Orinda Association board, Claire was indoctrinated into the community at a prime time some seven years ago when she joined the Women's Planning Council of Contra Costa County at the urging of the late Mildred Farrar.

"At this time a tremendous community effort was made to have an ordinance passed for a definite and original plan for the 51-acre parcel of the Planned Neighborhood District. But as land was sold and developed by individual owners, the plan's face went hodge-podge fashion."

TOSSING ACCOLADES at local folk like William Penn Mott and Dick Bartle for their indefatigable service to the community, Claire reiterates their feelings that the community's voice should be heard on the development of land, its overall needs and wants.

Following a return to the mainland from a home in Hawaii, and the life of a busy Berkeleyan, Claire took a brief respite after moving to her Orinda home . . . but it wasn't long before she plunged into community problems.

She's acquired a passionate feeling for Our Town and even now, with husband Ritchie recently retired from Shell Development to do science writing, and active with her son Bill, wife Janet and her two grandchildren as well as a job she loves at the Elite Fabrics store, Claire is still up to her sleeves in the pursuit of good planning. She is a member of the Orinda Planning Committee, the County's Park and Recreation Council, the Berkeley City Club, and can do a mean hula . . . and sew a fine seam.

IF SOMETHING is bothering you re: the community, past and present, look for the tallest lady behind the bolts of material in the store in The Plaza. It's likely she'll enlighten you as well as spur you on to share that same "passion" for a place called Orinda.

Senior Citizens Homes Planned For Dollar Ranch

The proposed Dollar Ranch annexation to Walnut Creek, site of a planned multi-million dollar "senior citizens" community, crossed a minor hurdle last Tuesday when boundaries were approved by the County Boundary Commission.

The annexation is expected to come before the city within five weeks, according to Ray Nystrom of Nolte Consulting Engineers.

APPLICATION at that time would apparently enable developer Ross Cortese to begin construction of his proposed Walnut Creek "Leisure World" by spring if next year.

Nystrom said the engineers were still "ironing out major problems" with city officials concerning density and other planning matters.

The annexation, if approved by the city council, will increase Walnut Creek's physical size by 25 per cent.

Turkish Girl Will Address A.F.S. Meet

Hospital for Retarded Kids

Plans for a 125-bed hospital and outpatient clinic facilities for 375 mentally retarded and handicapped children and their families was presented Tuesday to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors postponed under yesterday taking any action on the matter, although this morning is the deadline required by the state if the county is to stay in the runninig for such an installation.

Larry Coleman, El Cerrito, who said he was representing 12 organizations in the mental health field, said that the state intends to build three such centers in California and has asked each county to make a request for the funds.

ACCORDING TO Logan Fowler, chairman of the planning committee of the County Mental Health Association, the entire construction cost of the project would be borne by the state from bond money voted for in Proposition 1A.

(The Sun went to press before yesterday's board action was known, but indications were that the entire matter would be referred to a committee, which according to Supervisor Tom Coll, should suffice to keep the county in the running for its share of the state funds.)

Tentative plans call for the hospital to be located adjacent to a private community hospital such as the John Muir Hospital in Walnut Creek.

According to Fowler, the facility would serve "children customarily referred to as mentally retarded, neurologically handicapped or brain damaged, as well as those suffering from epilepsy, cerebral palsy and other disorders."

"IT IS EXTREMELY difficult to find adequate evaluation and diagnosis, treatment and care for childern in these categories. While Richmond and Martinez have nominal programs and facilities, the rest of the county is barren," said Fowler.

In addition to paying construction costs, the state would also pick up the tab for most of the operational costs, and there might even be federal money available, Fowler indicated.

Coleman said that the state and federal government might be expected to pay for as much as 75 per cent of the operating costs, but county officials were still worried about the remainder of those costs.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien estimated that the annual operating expenditure would probably equal the total construction cost, considering the number of professional personnel needed for the intensive training and treatment program.

DR. GEORGE DEGNAN, head of the County Hospital, said he seriously doubted the county would be granted the state funds, available to them now, and suggested that a program, realistically using all available money, collected into a single integrated program, would make more sense now.

Dr. Hendrix Blum, county health officer, agreeing in principal, argued that county action on the state plan would cost nothing, because the county would always back away.

But Supervisor Tom Coll did not agree. "We know we're not asked to sign a blank check," he said, "but in our experience, once you go ahead, you can't very well back off."

Coll asked to refer the entire matter to a committee for further action.

Sun Orient Holiday to Offer Extension Trips

Plans continue for "The Sun Orient Holiday," a 21-day jaunt beginning April 18 and open to all area residents, according to Sun Publisher Herman Silverman.

The Sun Orient Holiday, newest in a series of travel tours sponsored by The Sun, will include visits to such places as Honolulu, Tokyo, Formosa and Hong Kong, Silverman said this week.

Details of the trip, including costs and exact schedules, will be announced soon. Further information may be obtained by calling The Sun at 284-4444 or 934-5000.

Stops now included in tour plans include Honolulu, Tokyo, Nara, Osaka, Kyoto, Miyanoshita and Nikko. Then on to Taipei, Formosa, and Hong Kong.

Optional stops to be offered include the Philippines or Hawaii on return trip.

In addition, Sun extension trips may be added to the general tour plan, taking travelers to Bangkok, Singapore and Malaya, as well as Bali, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and Tahiti.

Intruders Scare Women

Intruders terrified three area women this week, and burglars made off with money, large quantities of liquor, food and automotive equipment, according to reports of the sheriff's office.

Sheriff's detectives are questioning suspects in the Walnut Creek area who entered a pair of homes last Thursday apparently intending to molest a teenaged girl in each one.

Victims were Leslie Cook, 17, of 1035 Juanita Avenue, who said the man kissed her and then left, and Karen Ford, 20, of 2747 Newell Avenue, who screamed when the man came near her in the early morning darkness.

IN ORINDA, Mrs. Audria Emerson, 45, of 5 Virginia Drive, told sheriff's officers she awoke early Monday to find a burglar had entered her home and was attacking her with a sharp instrument.

Champagne, gin, cigarettes, gum and candy were stolen sometime Sunday from the residence of Sam Winters, 223 Shady Glen Road, Walnut Creek, deputies said.

A $10 bill from her son's bedroom and an automatic gun were reported stolen by Mrs. Lucille Della, 2115 San Miguel Drive, Walnut Creek, Monday.

Assessment Of Utilities --Revived

In an effort to obtain more equitable assessment of public utilities in the county, supervisors will meet "within a week or 10 days" with this county's representative in the State Legislature and members of the State Board of Equalization, according to County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

The meeting, which supervisors requested since September, has been postponed because Senator George Miller, a key figure, had been busy with election matters, McBrien said.

Reason for the meeting was the disappointingly slight increase in the Contra Costa utility roll announced in August, an increase of less than one-half of one per cent.

THE 1962-63 utilities roll in this county came to approximately $184,400,000, only about $815,000 over last year.

County officials had anticipated a $10,000,000 boost, largely because of major improvements such as the Pittsburg and Antioch steam plants of Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

"Big issue between the state assessing of public utilities and the local assessing is they are assessing on a comparable basis to ours," said McBrien.

"We are assessing on a basis of 25 per cent of the market value of property, which we feel is equivalent to 50 per cent according to state assessment valuations.

"THIS IS SO because the state assesses property on historical costs rather than on existing market values.

"Another factor is the point at which you deduct income taxes."

McBrien said results of the meeting will determine whether some adjustment in rates can be made under existing framework of the law, or whether changes in the law will be requested.

One of the citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 324):

"Be watchful, sober and vigilant. The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. . . ."

Moraga Memo

By JANE PUTNAM

December--Ready or Not!

DECEMBER is a little soon this year. Only yesterday, it seems, we hung up our swim fins and snorkles. And here St. Nick is starting to circle the valley for a crash landing.

We're not the only ones confused by the onrushing season—Old Mother Nature isn't in step with Old Father Time, as naturalist Gladys Shally observes in her feature story this week.

* * *

AND ST. NICK isn't the only one flying low over our valley. Sir Stork has his eye on the Ralph Graham house on Scofield Drive. Last night, Donna Graham was given a surprise stork shower at the Danville home of her sister-in-law, Adell Graham. Co-hostesses with Adell were Anna Harlander and Barbara Perkins.

Among those who brought a baby picture of themselves to the 8 p.m. shower were Audrey Simpkin, Barbara Locke, Dianne Greenlee, June Voegtly, Barbara Dressler, Audrey Rockwell, Norma Burnett and Lillian Spotts. New grandmothers-to-be, Mrs. Eva Graham and Mrs. Rose Sperring, were also in on the conspiracy.

Donna, who models for Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, could possibly be in l'hospital over Christmas. Take it from one who spent her holiday in the maternity ward six years ago: it's a Fun Place at Christmas. The Head Nurse dresses as Santa and rings a bell shouting yuletide greetings at dawn and hands you a cascara cocktail.

* * *

BUSY MORAGANS. Mrs. W. C. Emory, 2 Lynch Court, is publicity chairman for Children's Opera Hour. "Don Pasquale" will be on stage at M. H. Stanley School, Lafayette, tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

Yvonne Mauzey is beating the drums for the 10th annual Exhibit Tea and Bazaar at Diablo Country Club Tuesday from 1:30-4 p.m. given by Towhee and Quail Units of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center. Highlight of the "Tinsel Tea" Bazaar will be Barbara Richmond making jewelry on the spot. Persimmon puddings (made at home, let's hope) will also be on sale.

Jeanne Bates is collecting canned goods and new toys in Moraga for the county's Christmas Bureau. Children will bring home notices from school today asking for donations to be brought to either school or the Bates' busy Orchard Dell menage, 7 Thune Avenue.

The bureau helps families within the area who are having a "rough go" over the holidays. Local Camp Fire Girls will help Jeanne collect the toys and canned goods and deposit them next Friday at headquarters in Walnut Creek. Jeanne tells the story of one man who was helped by the bureau one year in giving his family a happy holiday; and he returned with donations the following year.

My own personal crusade this year will be for Juvenile Hall. "The Cottage" in Martinez which takes care of younger children at the hall (not in for detention) is equipped to handle 21; and currently has 48 "boarders." If you have anything you'd like to pass along to these kids, leave it off at 124 Devin Drive . . . or deliver it in person to the hall. Visitors are always welcome.

* * *

GO GO GO. Moraga Newcomers Club will have their Christmas dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Concord Inn at 7:30 p.m. Ducats are $10 per couple; and most of the 80 members are planning on attending. Mrs. Robert G. Ottesen is chairman. Assisting her are Mrs. Robert Cron and Mrs. Harold A. Gunn. Publicist Mrs. Henry L. McFalls, publicist for the club, reminds you that it is strictly a social organization. Numerous coffees are held to enable new residents to become acquainted with the club's aims. Contact Mrs. Vincent S. Keilman, 376-4803, for further info.

Carrol County Club will have a New Year's Eve party at 9 p.m. for $9 a couple. The soiree is separate from the club, and reservations may be sent to Corrine 'Brennan, Tappan Lane, Orinda.

MORAGA LIONS annual Christmas party will be Saturday at Ed's Place, El Sobrante. It is a costume party, as the Lions are a little off-beat and prefer their costume party at Christmas, not Hallowe'en. Ed is a good scout to allow the Lions to return after last year. The Lions didn't misbehave, but the door prizes did. For instance, President John DeGuarda and Betty won a pig for their Frankenstein and Bride outfits. Bert and Margaret Bennett won a small turkey for their cannibals' garb. And Wayne Dalzell won admiring glances in Eleanor's garter belt.

The pig and turkey got loose and while the big city society pages may not cover this slice of sub-suburbia, Old Blabbermouth (as our Fire Chief affectionately calls me) will.

ENTRE NEWS? Tonight, Campolindo's gymnasium will have its first official workout when Acalanes High School plays basketball vs. Pleasant Hill High. Acalanes is playing their "home" games at the swank new gym since they don't have enough room at their own school.

Sunday afternoon, a truck crashed through the fence of the former Rheem estate for the second time since the Christian Brothers have occupied it as their Provincial House. The truck driver got out uninjured and wanted to use the small tractor the truck was hauling to pull said truck out of the ditch. However, sheriff's officials insisted truck driver had to pay tow truck to do the job.

LAFFEYETTE VINGNETTES. Walking along the boulvardier . . . "Mom" Bainbridge's afghans are on display at the Plaza Cleaners. For 20 years, the 83-year-old Lafayette lady has crocheted for her "boys" at the veterans' hospitals . . . At LeRoy's Hair Fashions, the jet dreyer gets gals coifed and dried and catapulted to a bridge game in half-an-hour.

CANYONITES were again included with Orinda Precinct 38 in the recent election results, and they're more than a little miffed about it. None of the county election results listed "Canyon"; and they don't want to lose their identity. Besides, they had a 95% turnout at the polls.

INVETERATE NAME DROPPER that I am, must tell you I interviewed Erskine Caldwell this week. The world's best-selling living author is living right in our very midst and loving it. I'll try not to drop his name with every semi-caldwell.

EPISCOPAL

The Family Worship Sunday will be the Service of Morning Prayer and Holy Communion at 9:30 a.m. Sunday school also meets at this hour and child care is provided for children under three.

The hour of early Holy Communion Service has been changed from 8:30 a.m. to 8:15 a.m. beginning this Sunday.

St. Giles' serves the area of southern Orinda and Moraga. Services are held at Inland Valley School, 70 Ivy Drive, Orinda.

Both services will be conducted by the vicar, the Reverend William J. Frankhuizen.

Crazy Mixed-up December To Arrive

By GLADYS SHALLY

December arrives tomorrow? Old Mother Nature is either being confused by Father Time into thinking it is spring or she is being misled by the weatherman's eccentricities.

In either case, she has been acting a little strange of late and not keeping strictly to her seasonal schedule. This, in turn, has caused some of her growing things to become confused as to their blooming season.

YOU CAN verify this by taking a look in your or your neighbor's garden.

You may find an occasional bearded iris blooming alongside winter iris, or you may see azaleas hobnobbing with the usually midsummer-flowering geraniums or a redbud exhibiting spring blossoms.

In some gardens roses, daylilies and clematis continue to flower, while violets and snowdrops are just beginning to show their colors.

MOTHER NATURE is indeed capricious, for in some places paper-white narcissus bloomed weeks ago. In others, daffodils and china lilies are just now poking their leaf tips through the soil. And china lilies must bloom before New Year's Day, according to the Chinese, or luck will not be good during the new year.

A walk on the hillside will show more of this topsy-turvy spell. Here a California poppy blazes amid the short green grass, or there you may see the blue of lupin. The yellow flowers of tarweed and the blue and grey of new milkthistle help give the illusion of spring, as well as an old oak which should be losing its leaves this time of year instead of putting forth tender new growth.

ORCHARDS, TOO, are all mixed up season-wise. Many pear trees in Moraga Valley are producing some blossoms — a few have been reported as full of bloom as in April.

On an apple tree above Orinda, a few bright pink blossoms look lost beside the tree's old withering apples and fall-colored leaves.

One gardener brags that on his apple tree a branch which bloomed for the second time in August now bears two red apples. Another tells of having a few cherry blossoms.

THE ODDITIES of the season seem endless! A Walnut Creek resident tells of mixed-up mocking birds which have been singing and dive-bombing her cat, much as they do during nesting time.

Speaking of birds, if this type of weather keeps up there should be plenty of cotoneaster and pyracantha berries (not to mention bloom!) for Christmas, for it is claimed that the hordes of robins and waxwings do not arrive until after a freeze, when the berries are frosted enough to suit their taste.

HERE IS a question which only time will answer—is this behavior of Mother Nature just a tiny revolt against established seasonal laws, or is she lulling us into a sense of well-being with this clement weather while preparing for another deluge?

IT MIGHT AS WELL BE SPRING for young Jean Andrews, who found this plum tree blooming in a field near the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Agee, 1530 Pleasant Hill Road. Local gardeners attributed the "false spring" taking place all over the central county area to the warm weather following recent storms. Sun photo by Helen Andrews

Local Lions Aid Drive

Lions Club members in the Orinda and Lafayette areas joined with 39 other clubs in Alameda and Contra Costa Counties in their annual "Be Thankful You Can See" Seal sale, according to Charles (Mickey) Meyers, for many years active in Lions blind work, member of the Lafayette Club.

The Lions Central Committee for the Blind is comprised of members of the 39 clubs in the two counties and sponsor the Blind Recreation Center at 3834 Opal Street, Oakland.

For many weeks, visually limited members of the center have worked with the Lions preparing the seals for distribution.

DURING THE YEAR, the center has been visited over 27,000 times by limited sight persons for craft work, social and recreational purposes.

The purchase of seals helps provide qualified instructors, to supervise the craft classes and recreational and social functions.

Meyers pointed out that many of the blind live alone, making the center their only social activity.

Transportation is provided for many of those unable to use public transportation by Lions and their families, the Red Cross and similar organizations.

The center, which was opened in 1950, contains a large lobby for visiting, class rooms, braille library, business office, kitchen, entirely the work of the Lions auditorium.

There is also a "guide dog" run and kennels, where the animals may stay while their masters are occupied.

The Blind Recreation Center is each age level and a project of and is not a part of any other program.

We Sniffers Offer a Plea

We are disturbed by two recent and related events:

1. Reportedly Ben Linsky of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District is in trouble with the district board members.

2. Dangers of air pollution to every man, woman and child in this metropolitan area were emphasized during the current winter meeting of the American Medical Association in Los Angeles.

Differences of opinion between Linsky and his directors we hope can be eliminated without weakening the district's program, which must inevitably have rough going under even the most ideal circumstances.

You don't think this is a Bay Area problem?

HAVE YOU SNIFFED the air lately, and compared your reaction with that of a year or so past?

Well, smog is here—right here in our precious Bay Area, and although it's nothing like the Los Angeles blanket of smoke, it is becoming more and more noticeable.

We plead with sooty tears in our eyes to air pollution board members and our own county supervisors not to let it happen here!

We sniffers of our once-clear Bay Area atmosphere are not too concerned about the internal politics and workings of the air pollution district, but we do not want to be made to suffer as a result of an obvious battle between Linsky and his board.

WE QUESTION the decision to place enforcement of smog regulations in the hands of the counties rather than smog control officers. Only when regular officers have control of enforcement will smog control have "arrived."

Doctors at the AMA meeting were told that smog control in any big metropolitan area requires a "superhuman effort," and certainly such an effort is not possible where there is division within the air pollution district itself.

Smog control is one of the major problems along with housing, transportation, health and water supply. All are related, with the solution of some aided by the solution of others, the doctors were told.

Severe air pollution brings on chronic lung disease, to be sure less severe in the United States than in London, where 4000 people died in 1952 of "The Great London Smog."

Air pollution also is related to lung cancer, the doctors also were told.

Let's Do It— It's Illogical!

How about doing what you have been telling yourself to do for months, now.

Read up on what you can do at little expense to protect your family during an atomic attack or major disaster.

Plenty of information is available on request from the Contra Costa County Disaster Office, but it is still up to you.

MOST RECENT publication is the Disaster Office's pamphlet on protecting your home during a flood, and there was strong interest in this for a while, although it diminished soon after the "Big Storm of 1962."

But many hard-headed people who approve of an active civil defense program are admitting that most people will be on their own during the first stages of an atomic attack.

In other words, it is up to you to really look into the possibility of taking individual steps toward providing for your loved ones in event of nuclear attack. Perhaps such measures might be of no avail, But they might make all difference where the Bay Area does not get the "full treatment."

There is a respectable number of honest persons, people who live in our area, who believe that there is no defense against atomic attack, and all efforts for survival in the event of attack are useless.

BUT HOW CAN they know for sure, when they don't know the nature of any future attack, which might not be calculated to make survival hopeless in outer areas like Contra Costa County.

There are arguments that persons who think themselves ready for a nuclear war stop really trying to avoid one.

The resulting attitude, they say, is typified by the phrase, "I'm ready. Let's get it over with!"

Is there not a road between, where a family man can prepare for the worst, and work toward the best?

We at The Sun hope so.

Is Bay Area Like 'Topsy'?

In another editorial on this page, we pleaded that internal dissension does not wreck a good air pollution program in the Bay Area, and noted that this problem is related to other major problems.

How are all these problems to be tackled? Can they be tackled effectively, with every city, county, district and organization working independently?

Apparently there is an organization upon which many thinking leaders pin their hopes for a unified approach to the Bay Area's development—it's called the Association of Bay Area Governments or "ABAG."

Is ABAG the group to do it?

According to its leaders, it hopes to establish policy for the future development of all land, transportation and recreation facilities in the Bay Area.

Its purpose, it is said, is to put an end to unorganized city-by-city, county-by-county growth of the Bay Area.

There are pros and cons on this subjert, and they bear looking into.

Without ABAG, perhaps we in the Bay Area can look forward to dictation from Sacramento as to our future growth. We are not sure this is the answer, either.

GAS STATIONS

Dear Editor,

It is rather interesting to note, side-by-side, in The Sun of November 16 articles on the opposition to gas stations and to liquor stores . . .

We forget one of the reasons why so many gasoline stations are concentrated in the heart of Lafayette. The Planning Commission has provided a very large residential area—which even now is only partially filled.

In that area they do not permit (and this is the wish of the people living in the area) the development of small retail areas. . . .

YOUR RECENT article reported that the Planning Commission is suggesting that one gas station be allowed for each 300 families. This is the first time I have realized that families—rather than automobiles—used gasoline.

I think you will find that throughout the unincorporated sections of our county (which the Planning Commission regulates) that there is a wide variation in the number of cars per family.

I may appear very simple-minded in this matter but it would seem to me that gasoline stations would be established in proportion to cars registered and not in proportion to families. . . .

BUT LOOKING at the next column where you report the protest of two licensed liquor stores against the opening of the fourth liquor store in Lafayette, you are telling the story of what will happen when the limits are placed on a mechanical basis on the number of gasoline stations.

The number of liquor stores are limited by the number of licenses that can be located in the county.

Because the number is limited a license for a liquor store (technically called an off-sale general liquor license) sells for approximately $35,000.

Because Government, in its wisdom, restricts the number of licenses by mechanical formula, people pay $35,000 just for the right to open a liquor store in this county.

THIS METHOD of creating quaesi-monopoly or oligopoly, as it is technically known, has never produced any real benefit for the consumer.

It has only produced abnormal profits for the holder of such a license.

I thoroughly agree with the principle design control and sign control.

Within these conditions we should permit our competitive economy to operate.

The "wisdom of the state" as evidenced by the handling of liquor licenses does not recommend this approach for gasoline stations.

ENDORSEMENTS

Dear Editor:

Now that the elections are over and the smoke of the battle has cleared away, I would like to accuse the editor of "fuzzy" political thinking.

You gave a very nice endorsement to Jerry Waldie and John Knox, and rightly so for they are very capable men. In the same issue, you said that you were voting for Mr. Nixon and Mr. Christopher, which was practically an endorsement for them.

I wonder what you think would have happened to all the campaign promises and ideals of Mr. Waldie and Mr. Knox, had Mr. Nixon been elected.

ALSO, HOW did you expect Mr. Nixon to keep his promises with a legislature whose ideas were directly opposed to his?

The legislature would face vetoes and the governor would face defeat of his program. Wouldn't it have been a complete standoff?

I can't believe that you were not listening to what they were saying, because you are the ones who are always arranging candidates night, so the public can be informed about them.

Surely you wouldn't be one who votes for the man and not the party, because you must have noted that the party controls the man.

HE MUST vote for the issues in his party's platform because the party pays so much of the cost of election.

Those who have watched the voting record of Congressman Baldwin have seen how true this is by the number of times he votes to defeat the President.

Perhaps, sometime you will explain why it is, that you thought that California would be well off with a Republican governor and a Democratic legislature.

DOROTHY E. BARDEN

HORSE

Dear Editor,

The California State Horsemen's Association Fifth Region, Dr. James Naviaux, and all persons working on the "Horse Husbandry" course at Las Lomas High School, Walnut Creek, wish to express their thanks to your organization for the fine publicity given the course.

The results are most gratifying. When we mapped out the course, we felt an attendance of 100 persons would be reached.

To date we have 265 persons registered.

We have changed the date of the class to the third Tuesday of each month so that we may have the use of larger facilities.

JAMES M. CRYDERMAN
Coordinator, California State Horsemen's Association, Fifth Region

K.O. POLIO

Dear Editor,

We want you and your readers to know how much we value your cooperation in promoting the K.O. Polio program.

Your help was influential in marshalling the 100,000 volunteers and the two and a half million Bay Area "patients" who took Type I and II vaccine.

The size of your effort was matched by your high professional discipline in reporting with such accurate detail the scientific aspects of poliomyelitis immunization.

HAROLD KAY, M.D.
Chairman,
Alameda County K.O. Polio Committee

THANKS

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the entire auxiliary I want to thank you for your support of our annual "Evening Under the Stars."

Your kindness was very much appreciated.

We Like It Here . . .
A Soliloquy at the '62 Christmas Card Counter

By MARIE MONAHAN

IN QUEST OF a Christmas card, Oh, my!
The search goes on through books piled high.
Too many to chose from and such a profusion
Of un-Christmasy cards, I'm faced with confusion.
No. thanks, not for me, the fancy french poodles
OR modern bright dabbles of colorful doodles.
NO SPORTSCARS, no space ships, no purry pet cats.
No ladies Victorian in fine feathered hats.
NO card slenderized to fashion slim-jim
With verses too terse in worse wit and whim.
AN etching of the Panama Isthmus?
The card I want I WANT for CHRISTMAS!
Page after page I rifle through—
Past sequined mice, grand peacocks, too.
Silvered birds and gilded fruit,
A bunch of kittens, very cute!
REGAL cards in paper of gold
(Name imprinted grand and bold) . . .
Ah, this I like, The Wise Men Three.
This, too, of the Partridge in the Pear Tree.
The country lane with fallen snow,
A farmhouse kitchen all aglow,
A GINGERBREAD MAN, good enough to eat!
A children's choir, very sweet.
Well, Hello! If it isn't old Santa, by golly!
Rosy-cheeked cherub, so round and so jolly!
IN AND OUT the cards I go . . .
Stocking all hung with our names in a row?
OR "ANGELS we have heard on high . . ."
Or the Star of Bethlehem on a blue sky?
Soon I'll find the one to send
To Aunt and cousin, favorite friend . . .
That special card that tells The Story
Of Peace on Earth in all its glory.
Now comes the time, I must decide . . .
THE Jingle Bells card, the wintry sleigh ride?
A caroling party of stocking-capped people?
A candlelit window, a pretty church steeple?
I find it at last . . . The one that best pleases . . .
JOSEPH AND MARY with little babe Jesus.

Under The Sun

A Report from Our Man in Bora Bora . . .

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

BORA BORA, TAHITI, FRENCH POLYNESIA—Would you like to be on a beautiful island in the South Pacific, sitting on a white sand beach under a coco palm?

No one in sight, only the roar of the reef in the distance or an occasional fish flopping in the water, otherwise complete silence. No radio. No newspaper. No TV. No phones. No telegraph!

Only a few cars. Transportation is by outrigger canoe, bicycle or truck!

Now happy sounds come from a thatched grass hut 20 feet from the water. The giggle of longtressed Tahitian girls cleaning the bungalows. Then, a song as they leisurely do their work. They are always singing or giggling or stopping to braid their long, black hair.

Next—a boy and girl

Now a tiny, adorable Chinese girl walks down the path, followed by a handsome tane. He is supposed to be picking up the leaves.

Does this sound good to you?

We beached for lunch . . .

Well, come along with Eleanor and me to the most delightful, most peaceful, most beautiful island in the world —Bora Bora.

No, we're not planning a Sun tour to Tahiti and the Society Islands, over 2000 miles south of Hawaii.

We knew you'd like to join us even if only with this column, so a few days ago we headed for this Polynesian heaven.

How did we get there?

As you may have read, Eleanor left nine days earlier than I, via Matson Lines' Monterey. A great white bird, courtesy of South Pacific Air Lines, flew me from Honolulu to Papeete, Tahiti. I arrived one day earlier than Eleanor and was at the dock when the Monterey brought her in.

How did we get to Bora Bora?

We climbed aboard a fascinating RAI (local French airline) flying boat, piloted by experienced, bearded Australian pilots. The flying boat is a thrill.

Our seats were just above the water line and the spray covered our windows departing and landing. The plane flew only a few hundred feet above the green water.

We pass the volcanic peaks of lovely Moorea, 12 miles from Tahiti. And now we approach mountainous Huahine with water splitting the island in two. A missionary couple disembarks.

We land again in "farming" Raiatea and fly past sparsley-populated Tahaa, where we see fishermen in their outriggers.

And in the distance . . .

We can now see what Mitchener calls "the most beautiful island in the world" —Bora Bora. And we agree! Clouds surround its famous volcanic peak — and stately coco palms populate each tiny islet which completely surround the main island. We are only 125 miles from Tahiti but it's a different world.

Was I exaggerating in the description at the top of this column?

No—If anything, I didn't do Bora Bora justice.

Describing this Polynesian paradise, I didn't mention a very important point —the superb food and accommodations of the Bora Bora Hotel. Yes, you could be a beachcomber, but we Americans are spoiled. We like comfort even in our tropical paradise.

Local money in Bora Bora

Al Bourgerie and his lovely wife, Marie Terangi, famous Tahitian singer, do a splendid job of managing the Bora Bora Hotel. Incidentally, Bob Fraser, who used to live here, and Paul Hammarberg of Lafayette, plus French interests, built this hotel over a year ago.

Come on—pull on your swim mask, fins and snorkel. Only 20 feet from shore are the most beautiful coral gardens with multi-colored fish swimming about.

We've relaxed long enough!

It's 9:30 a.m. and here's our large outrigger canoe with two sails and three smiling crewmen.

They carefully guide the canoe over shallow coral and sand banks, until they find a deep channel. The wind picks up and we sail between two tiny islets.

Zooming over the waves

The wind picks up! We zoom over the water. The crew hums ancient tunes.

The outrigger heads for a motu, a narrow islet astride the reef. They toss out an anchor and we toss ourselves into the pleasant water.

Ashore, the crew opens a large basket and we enjoy lunch. Eleanor peels giant grapefruit and papaya.

Thousands of miles from bond issues . . .

For three hours more, we sail the lagoon around Bora Bora, seeing only one canoe and two men. We nap, we think, we grasp at the silence and the beauty.

(Incidentally, this cost each of us about $5.50.)

We dock at the hotel. What do we do?

A very hectic life.

FESTIVAL of Christmas Trees will open tonight for the 12th year at the Claremont Hotel. Tonight will be the champagne preview. Tomorrow through Thursday, the show will be open to the public from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Mrs. Eric Nielsen, Orinda, shows Rowan Branch's miniature tree to Christine Barbera and Kristia Nielsen. Sun photo by Bob Yost

Tree Festival to Start

East of the tunnel ingenuity will be remarkably apparent when the twelfth annual Festival of Christmas Trees opens with a gala preview tonight.

Tomorrow through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., thousands will stroll through the Grecian Rooms of the Claremont Hotel to view the stunning miniature trees which have made Children's Hospital of the East Bay renowned as the sponsors.

Among sponsors from Contra Costa County attending preview view night will be Mr. and Mrs. A. James McAdams, Orinda; Dr. Ronald L. Thiele, Concord; Dr. Standish J. Watson, Walnut Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Lehr of Lafayette.

All hospital branches participate as well as scores of friends of the hospital, and the result is a dazzling array of more than 200 trees, none of which are more than four feet high.

Popcorn sprayed in tones ranging from pink to purple and glued to wire screen backing will be Birch Branch's entry designed by Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Daniloff of Orinda. Sturdy enough to grace a dining table or mantle for several seasons, the tree will sit upon a matching pink-to-purple base fashioned of beads.

Felt wise men, wreaths and toys will be applied to Orinda Branch's jeweled felt tree by Mrs. Robert Jurs of Moraga. Branch members started early in October to make small glass ornaments to give a third dimensional effect to the tree.

Mrs. Max Widmer of Walnut Creek is making a foot-high black iron angel with a golden halo to hold three candlesticks in each hand as one of Linden Branch's entries in this year's festival.

Toys of all colors will ornament a snow-covered one-foot artificial tree made by Mrs. Eric Nielsen of Orinda for Rowan Branch. All toys, except a train under the tree, will be fabricated of wood.

Circular tiers, each representing one of the 12 days of Christmas, will ornament Muir's white felt tree, according to Mrs. Cliff Egan of Pleasant Hill. Gold touches will accent the blues, violets, greens and cerise of the figures on the tree.

Mrs. Ken Carnahan of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Lewis Beerman of Concord are coordinating their talents for Jasmine's tree which will be a natural wood and gold manzanita branch with gold-sprayed ornaments, walnuts and pine cones.

A white embroidered lace and green satin ribbon tree embellished with green sequins and white pearls will bear the name of Papaya Branch at the festival. Mrs. Robert Olson of Danville is the designer and maker of this tree.

Laurel Jr.'s "family tree" with multi-color character heads depicting grandfather and his assorted descendants —father, mother, junior, baby, dog and cat — will be the amusing conversation piece done jointly by Mrs. John Tague of Pleasant Hill and Mrs. Charles Currier of Lafayette.

Mrs. Edwin D. Robinson of Walnut Creek and Walnut Branch will offer a fur tree of muskrat decorated with rhinestones and set upon a compote tied with a large red ribbon.

Admissions of $1 for adults and 25 cents for children, as will the sale of the trees, will help to underwrite the extensive part-pay medical care provided at the hospital. Even though trees bear a "sold" sign, none will be removed until after close of the festival.

'Esprit de Noel' Is Set

Shiny baubles, and holiday fashions will magically transform the Walnut Hill Country Club into a veritable Christmas wonderland tomorrow night.

Sponsored by the Catholic Social Service Auxiliary, their annual "Esprit de Noel" will highlight a holiday atmosphere under the chairmanship of Mrs. Roger Pedersen.

Luxury apparel in a holiday mood will be modeled by the Mesdames Edward Benney, Gil Lazzareschi, Robert Munn, Louis Fambrini, Warren Boero, Ron Brumback, Robert Smith, Kenneth Friedenbach, and Ernest Brenzel.

Commentator will be Mike Andrews.

Cocktails, hors de' ouvres, and dancing to the music of Mike Turres orchestra will be available. Guests will stroll through the club to view the delightful boutique items, antiques, confections, and art treasures that will be displayed and sold throughout the evening.

Mrs. John McNally is boutique chairman.

Mrs. Donald Lees, art show chairman, will proudly present "Art in Action" by Barbara Gilson doing quick pastel portraits of guests. Ceramics and paintings by local artists will also be shown.

Miss Marge Perry is program chairman. Mesdames Roy Bailey and George Schmitt are ticket chairmen.

Tickets are $2 and may be obtained through members, at the door, or by calling Mrs. Bailey, 935-0944.

All proceeds will benefit the Social Service office in Contra Costa County.

MEDICS' WIVES will give their annual Christmas party Saturday night at Concord Inn. Planning the affair are members of the local unit of Woman's Auxiliary of the Alameda-Contra Costa Medical Association. 'Mele Kalikimaka' to You!

"Mele Kalikimaka"—Merry Christmas in Hawaiian — will be the theme of the weekly fashion luncheon Monday at the Therapy Center Terrace.

Mrs. Donald Smith of Lafayette, a member of ethe Cardinal Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, is arranging the show. The Mesdames Peter Donley and Carl Marino of Walnut Creek (Cardinal Unit), and Mrs. King Tolles of Concord (Robin Unit), will model.

The monthly teen fashion luncheon Saturday will feature sub-teen and children's Christmas styles from "Kladezee" of Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Ray Davis of Walnut Creek (Hummingbird Unit) will select fashions to be shown at noon and 1 p.m. A special menu, to please the teen-age palate and pocketbook, will be served.

Exciting tempera paintings, including many portraits of clowns, by Lorraine Myatt, will be exhibited at the terrace during the month of December.

Mrs. Myatt, a resident of Walnut Creek, will also show some of her oils and watercolors. She has exhibited at the county fair, the state fair, and walnut festival.

Suburban Club Is Busy

A festive Christmas party is planned for Lafayette Suburban Women's Club members and their spouses December 8, according to social chairman Norma Fink.

The annual Christmas potluck dinner will be December 13 at 6:45 at Lafayette School auditorium.

Jane Shields will be in charge of food. Mrs. Joseph Gregory will speak on "Dolls of United Nations," and will illustrate her talk.

Members will each bring a can of coffee to the dinner which will be turned over to the volunteer bureau for needy families.

A cash contribution will be given to the King's Daughters Home.

In addition, those wishing to give individual gifts to the girls may bring these also. It was suggested that lengths of yardage would be appreciated by the girls who like to sew.

MRS. DALE A. ELLSWORTH, Walnut Creek, past worthy matron of the Almona Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, has been appointed deputy Grand Matron of the 28th District, Grand Chapter of California.

All-FAL Football Team Selected

Miramonte, Foothill Athletic League football champions for the first time, dominated the All-League selections announced by the board of governors Wednesday.

The Matadors placed seven players on the all-star team. Dethroned defending champion Las Lomas, second this year, placed five players.

San Ramon has four players on the team with Del Valle placing three, Piedmont, two and Acalanes, one. Alhambra, winless for the second straight year in the FAL, did not place a player on the all-star team.

Clark, Rhyan on Contra Costa All-Star Team

Dave Clark of Pleasant Hill and Tim Rhyan of College Park were the only local All-League selections on the Contra Costa Division (DVAL) team announced this week.

Although he played part of the season as a fullback, Rhyan was picked by the coaches as starting guard on their all-star team.

For Clark, the honor of being in the all-league backfield was a foregone conclusion. He was probably the top runner in the lea ue this season.

Nary a quarterback was picked in the offensive backfield.

MIRAMONTE halfback Bob Williams and fullback Dean Hilger were picked along with Bill O'Toole of Del Valle and Lincoln Arthur of San Ramon.

Selected as member of the all-star defensive backfield were Bob Kreider of Las Lomas, Pete Boyle of Miramonte, Cliff Schroeder of Del Valle and Rick Aboud of San Ramon.

The four Miramonte linemen picked for the All-League team were end Bruce Nickerson, tackle Clint DeWitt, tackle Butch Workman, guard Kent Miller.

Miller, Workman and Nickerson were picked on the defensive team.

Four Las Lomas lineman also were picked as all-stars.

RICK LAVEN was named the All-League linebacker. End Gary Ford, tackle Bill Stanley and guard Otto Schatz were all named to the offensive team.

John Lucas of San Ramon was named the other offensive end. Chuck Husted of the Wolves was picked as a defensive guard to round out the San Ramon selections.

Piedmont's two selections on the all-star team were center Doc Wood and offensive guard John Sorba.

Two are from Las Lomas and two from Miramonte.

Back next year for the Knights will be Ford and Staley. Returning next season for the Mats will be Boyle and Workman.

Laven, Hilger and Wood are all repeaters on the All-League team.

Laven was picked as a defensive guard last year while Hilger was selected as a defensive back.

Wood was choice as offensive center last year also.

Las Lomas Wins, 48-30; Acalanes Loses, 51-39

Las Lomas scored 23 points in the fourth quarter to rout Amador, 48-30, Tuesday afternoon in Walnut Creek.

In another local non-league prep game, Acalanes bowed to Vallejo, 51-39, on the winners' court.

The Knights had dropped their opening game a week earlier, 35-33, to Skyline. It was the first game for Acalanes.

Senior guard Bob Kreider paced the Knights with 13 points who moved out in front early in the second quarter and never trailed again.

AMADOR JUMPED to a 9-6 first quarter lead, but Las Lomas moved on top 16-13 at the half. The locals increased their margin in another point at the end of three periods, 25-21.

It was a different game altogether in the final stanza, however, as Las Lomas suddenly found the range for the first time this year.

Paced by a pair of baskets each by Kreider and Rich Bovo, his partner at guard, the Knights outscored the suddenly outclassed visitors, 23-9, in the final eight minutes.

Forward Jerry Nordeman had nine points and Bovo finished with seven.

A THIRD period freeze put the game out of reach for the Dons.

Vallejo jumped on top, 11-7, at the end of one quarter and made it 24-19 at the half.

Acalanes was still very much in the game, but the hometown quintet outscored the visitors from Lafayette, 11-6, in the third period to put the game on ice with a 35-25 lead going in the final eight minutes.

Senior center Bill Higgins paced the Dons with 10 points.

Kirby Long, regular guard for the Dons, suffered a bad ankle sprain in practice last week and could not play in the Dons' opener. Coach Bert Barnett expects Long to be out of action for two weeks.

Long broke the same ankle last year after earning a starting position and missed the whole Foothill League season.

BARNETT ADMITTED that the Dons were handicapped by Long's absence.

It was Vallejo's fourth game.

LAS LOMAS (48)

The Ski Line . . .
Plenty of Ski Activity During the Off-Season

By HEC HANCOCK

Like I was saying before I was interrupted last spring, this skiing is a crazy sport.

Like to try and name another sport that opens its season each and every year in much the manner of Christmas morning with goodies for one and all.

Late every fall when the skier comes out of hibernation, or wherever there's a huge collection of ski developments, fashions and new ski techniques awaiting his pleasure.

Certainly, no other sport expends the time, effort and money to cater to the individual participant's every whim as does the ski industry.

A good case in point is Alpine Meadows. As this ski spa prepares for its second year of operation, an extensive expansion program has been undertaken under the direction of manager Tim Sullivan. A new 4000-foot Riblet double chairlift will rise 980 vertical feet to the shoulder between Alpine and Wolverine Bowls. A 1200-foot Teigel platter lift, with a vertical rise of 200 feet and capable of servicing 1600 skiers per hour has been added to the beginners' slope. The latter addition should certainly enhance Alpine's avowed aim of becoming a truly all-around family type ski area.

Another important improvement to the Alpine Meadows area has been the paving and widening of the three-mile access road from Highway 89 to the Lodge. In this connection, the parking lot has been tripled in size to accommodate approximately 1000 cars. The sun deck at the Lodge has been doubled in size, and provides spectator types a tremendous view of happenings on the slope as well as "stretchie watching."

For further evidence of added facilities, let's try Squaw Valley.

No less than four new double chair lifts have been added to the rapidly growing network of lifts servicing the site of the 1960 Olympics.

Little KT lift has been added for the beginner and intermediate, and provides a vertical rise of 350 feet up the base of KT 22. Big Cornice Lifts 1 and 2 will parallel the Squaw Peak lift to the east, and climb a combined total of 2100 feet. The Siberia Bowl lift will whisk skiers 900 feet to the top of the Siberia Bowl, expanding facilities in that region.

Across neighboring Lake Tahoe, Heavenly Valley has just installed the largest aerial tramway in the United States. The tramway, 4000 feet long, will rise 1600 feet in elevation to the top of the face. In addition to hauling skiers in the winter, the tramway will operate all year long for scenic tours. The view of Lake Tahoe and surrounding country is one of the most beautiful vistas afforded anywhere.

A new spot, Betty's Bowl, has been readied for the intermediate and advanced skier high atop the mountain and is reached by taking the uppermost lift.

Still more lifts have been added to Dodge Ridge's maze of lifts and tows. The addition of two Alpine Platter pull lifts brings the total of lifts and tows at this particular resort to 15. Something for everyone.

The work of making the ski areas more accessible to the Bay Area goes ahead at a rapid pace. During the past year, the Martinez-Benicia Bridge has been completed, thus making possible to trim more time from the trip.

Aquabears Will Hold Annual Meet Tomorrow

The Aquabears, local AAU age group team will hold its third annual Team Challenge Swim Meet at the Miramonte High School pool. The meet will start at 1:30 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

This annual intra-squad meet is held each fall as part of the team's training program for the new season. More than 100 young swimmers will compete including 22 newcomers who joined the team as a result of tryouts held last month.

The Aquabears in three years have developed into one of the strongest AAU swim teams in Northern California.

They not only won the long course Junior Olympics championship last summer but were also defeated in dual meet competition.

Cross-Country Title to Mats

The Matadors' top five runners finished with a total of 92 points.

Alameda was second with 100 and Cubberly was third with 101.

Miramonte's combined time of 50:07 was the second best time ever recorded in the championship meet. Alameda finished in 50:26 and Cubberly, 50:25.

In 1960, Washington High of Centerville posted a 49:29.

The Mats won the third section qualifying title a week earlier in a combined time of 50:42. Prior to the qualifying section meet, the Mats had never finished in under 51 minutes.

Eight section winners and two other "at large" teams selected by best runners-up times competed in the finals over the two-mile Stanford golf course layout.

RICH KAY of Miramonte, finished second in the meet with a time of 9:37. This is the best time ever recorded by a junior in the meet. His time was 13 seconds better than he could do in winning his section race a week earlier.

Kay actually finished first among runners who were representing teams.

Mike Ryan of Wilcox High, only a sophomore, finished first and set a course record of 9:30.7. However, he and several others were allowed to run because of their fine times recorded in the section qualifying round. As far as team points were concerned, Kay was the first place finisher.

Miramonte coach Don Underwood said Kay was closing in on Ryan in the home stretch and needed only 100 yards more to win. However, Kay had started his stretch drive too late, Underwood said.

"I expect Kay to be able to defeat Ryan next year," Underwood said.

Underwood and the Miramonte team are now awaiting word of their ranking among all U.S. prep cross-country teams.

Miramonte's time of 50:42 in the qualifying competition bettered Hillsborough's best mark of the year—and the peninsula team was rated No. 2 on the national scene.

UNDERWOOD said it would be a week before he knew if his team had unseated East Salem, Wash. as the top team in the country. Prep ratings are based on "best" times, he said.

Miramonte's mark last week erased the "second best" 50:08 time set by Hillsdale in 1960. Prior to 1957, all times for the North Coast champions were always timed in more than 51 minutes.

Officials at the meet called it the "best competition ever assembled in Northern California."

Prior to this year's meet, seven was the highest number of winners ever to finish under 10 minutes in one championship meet. This year 22 prep runners finished in less than 10 minutes.

DEAN MUNROE finished seventh in the meet with a time of 9:50.0. He was the No. 2 man for the Matadors.

Bruce Hutchinson was the third Miramonte runner to break the 10-minute mark. He was clocked in 9:57 for his 12th place finish.

The other two Miramonte runners who finished "in the money" were George Burtt and Fred Neighbor.

Burtt was 17th in 10:03 and Neighbor was 55th in 10:40.

The other two members of the seven-man team were Tri Dunning (64th) and Barry Willis (74th). The other three members of the squad who made the trip were John Keely, Houston Kimbrough and Bill Ellgas.

THE WIN in the section finals climaxed the greatest cross-country season in the school's history.

For the fifth straight year, the Mats won the Foothill League title with an undefeated record.

For the fourth straight year, the Mats won the third section North Coast title.

However, the win in the finals was the first ever for the school.

Underwood credits Bob Campbell for building up the interest in cross-country at Miramonte.

Campbell, a science instructor and counselor at Miramonte, coached the Mats for three years. This is Underwood's second year as coach.

Underwood said "there is a great caliber of students at Miramonte and especially those who turn out for cross-country. They work hard and have the will to win. A coach couldn't ask for any more than that."

WH Swim Club Planning for New Season

Recently, the board of directors of the Walnut Hills Swimming Team Parents Club adopted a resolution commending swim coach Ron Noakes for his outstanding contribution for the results of the club's swimmers in 1962 AAU swim meets.

A general membership meeting was held to outline the winter ter training schedule.

Following the heavy schedule of swim meets during the season the team took a rest period and is now returning to the regular workout schedule.

Preparations are being made for the opening of the 1963 season.

Noakes announced the names of new members of the team and stated additional team tryouts were to be held both before and after Christmas.

He suggested parents with swimmers interested in team AAU swimming call 934-9028, 685-3635 or 935-4511.

Local Bowlers Top San Pablo Annual Tourney

After 11 strikes in a row, Bob Tresidder of Lafayette left the baby split on his last ball and finished with a 298 game last week at Lucky Lanes, San Pablo, in the First Annual Lucky Singles.

Tresidder, a Pacific Telephone employee, was bowling with the Rheem Bowl squad. He will collect $100 as tourney prize if the score isn't bettered.

Another Rheem bowler from Lafayette, Lefty Merrigan, rolled a 278 game and a four-game total of 913 to lead all men in the tourney.

Kiddie Korral Wins Praise

Mrs. Michael Papadopoulos of Walnut Creek, shown with Greg, four, is enthusiastic about the Kiddie Korral, which provides shopping mothers of young children with expert supervision.

"Our three boys have always looked forward to going shopping," she said. "The Kiddie Korral isn't just a boon to busy mothers, but the children do really constructive activities in arts and crafts.

"They make the store decorations for Thanksgiving and Christmas, for example, and this really means something to them.

'My Own Business', Says Lafayette Man

Donald M. Sanford of Lafayette, chairman of the South Main Center opening committee, said, "What's most important to me about the Co-op is that it's my own business.

"Mine," he adds, "as well as that of 4000 other families, friends and neighbors in the valley area. We all have a say in running the business: at membership meetings, each shareholder, no matter how many or how few shares he owns, has a single vote.

"Genuine democratic control is strongly maintained in the elected center councils and the congress, which make recommendations to the board of directors (also elected) on the needs and desires of each center's members.

"Committees for finance, member-relations, future planning and others, also make recommendations to the board.

"Council, congress, board and committee members all give many hours generously and without compensation.

Patronage Refund Has Fascination for Shopper

Violet Klemm (Mrs. Herman) of Walnut Creek, representative for a national business firm, says, "As a former Sids shopper, I was naturally curious about the store's changeover to a Co-op.

"What 'sold' me was the patronage refund, and it sold my husband, too. We invested $100 in Co-op shares, at $5 each. Dividends are four per cent to holders of $50 or more in shares.

"At the end of the year, we'll get a refund on our purchases, which we can take either in cash or in more shares, reinvesting in a sound Bay Area business.

"Reinvesting appeals strongly to me, as I like to put my nest-egg in something I can see growing.

"I drive around the East Bay a lot, and if I shop at a Co-op in Berkeley, Castro Valley — or, next year, the El Cerrito-Richmond center now under construction—I still will get the annual patronage refund on my purchases, no matter where they were made.

FRANK CUZILLO
Council Member

Idealism, Business Mix Says Patron

Frank Cuzzillo of Alamo, manager, Department of Motor Vehicles, Walnut Creek, says, "Idealism and good business aren't incompatible. The Co-op is a successful working example of that fact.

"First and foremost, the Co-op is consumer-oriented: we're concerned with the shopper's welfare, not just with making money.

"We keep a sharp eye out for deceptive packaging, for instance, such as items for which the buyer is paying for a showy big cardboard box, without too much of the product inside it.

"Co-op home economists are on duty to help the housewife shop with economy, good nutrition—and imagination.

"The Co-op represents the best in the American tradition of independence: private individuals running a business they themselves own." said Cuzzillo.

Tracy Howe of Walnut Creek, 15, student at Del Valle High, learned to play her guitar at a Co-op guitar class last year; worked as a volunteer at the organization's 25th anniversary this spring.

She's a booster for the Co-op's many affiliated community activities, such as the Arts and Crafts Guild and the Chorlae.

Another fine community program is the Reading Workshop, not only for kids but one for their parents as well.

Employees Like Co-op Benefits, Good Relations

Petrus Townsend of Walnut Creek, store manager, works for the Co-op "because I like giving the customer a fair deal.

"I also like the friendly relations between the employees and the customers. It's their store, they tell us what they'd like or need, and we give it to them as long as it's economically practical and good management.

"With Co-op buying power, we keep regular prices low and quality and variety high.

"Co-op gives its employes a fair deal, too. Our labor-relations record has always been excellent, and there's an employees' profit-sharing plan.

"Also, both the employees and the member-patrons can join the Credit Union and the Health Plan," he said.

WHY THE COOP'S BETTER FOR YOU

YOU CAN BE AN OWNER! Yes, you can buy shares in the Co-op for $5 each. But regardless of the number of shares you get just one vote in corporate affairs. People vote, not shares.

YOU CAN HAVE YOUR FINGER IN THE PIE! You have the right to speak up to the management and the Board of Directors and be heard.

YOU PAY NO MORE THAN ACTUAL COST! That's right. All net income, after taxes, share dividends, and reserves is returned to member-owner-shoppers in proportion to patronage. In other words, any funds not necessary for expenses is given back.

YOU GET WHAT YOU WANT! When Co-op members want something they get it, if it's economically feasible to provide it, whether it's a new brand, a new item, a new service, or whatever. This is because the Co-op belongs to them.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE WARY OF MERCHANDISING TRICKS. The Co-op avoids the gimmick, the lure, the impulse sale, the Madison Avenue approach to merchandising. You can let your guard down in the Co-op.

YOU CAN COUNT ON THE BEST FOR THE LEAST. Quality is as important as low price. You get both at the Co-op.

You and your neighbors together are helping yourselves and each other to a better standard of living.

The Co-op is family centered — owned, run by, and shopped in by families who live in this community.

Cynthia Ann Porter Is Bride of Lt. Dan Murphy

Married recently at the Presidio Post Chapel were Lt. Daniel Edward Murphy and the former Cynthia Ann Porter. The Reverend John Easton officiated at the double ring ceremony which was followed by a reception in McDowell Hall, Fort Mason.

The bride i the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie Porter of Happy Valley, Lafayette. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murphy of San Mateo.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was married in a princess styled gown of peau de soie with appliques of reembroidered alencon lace. It was designed with long sleeves and a controlled skirt with bustle effect back interest and chapel train.

Her illusion veil was secured with a tiny pillbox of alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried white orchids and stephanotis in her wedding bouquet.

The gold coin slipped into her shoe has been saved, since Cynthia was a baby, for her wedding day.

All of the attendants wore floor length gowns of gold taffeta with three-quarter sleeves and a bow of self-material with long streamers in the back.

The headpieces were matching bows with tulle veils. Their bouquets were sprays of bronze chrysanthemums with oak leaves.

At the reception, Susan Williams, cousin of the bride, took charge of the guest book. Mary Nipkow passed the tiny rice bags to the guests.

Robert Barnes, a former classmate of Dan's, assumed the best man duties, and ushering were Craig Porter, brother of the bride, and Warren Rucker, fraternity brother of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Porter chose a chartreuse gown with contrasting accessories. Mrs. Murphy wore a warm beige sheath with hat in autumn tones. Both mothers wore orchids.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. True Van Sickle and the late Mr. Van Sickle, and Mrs. Ernest James Porter and the late Mr. Porter.

The couple will live in Eugene, Oregon, while Dan completes his studies for his master's degree.

'Babysitter Wife' Asks Divorce From Herbalist

Constance Woo Fong of Walnut Creek has filed suit for divorce or annulment of her marriage to Fong Wan, 80-year-old millionaire herbalist.

Mrs. Fong is a former night club dancer employed as a baby sitter by Fong Wan before their marriage November 23, 1960.

"My husband is a shrewd business man. He thought it would be cheaper to marry his baby sitter than pay her," Mrs. Fong said after her wedding.

The suit, filed Tuesday in Contra Costa County Superior Court, charges that Fong "has continuously lived separate and apart," and that the marriage has never been consummated.

Before the marriage, Mrs. Fong cared for one of Fong's daughters by a former marriage. During the period of their married life, Fong lived in Oakland and operated his herb shop while Mrs. Fong lived on the chicken ranch she operates at 1250 Northgate Road here, according to attorney O. F. Fenstermacher.

Fong has been ailing in Concord Community Hospital for three weeks, the attorney said.

The herbalist has nine sons and two daughters by three previous marriages. He lost a divorce settlement of two million dollars to his third wife in 1958.

When married to the present Mrs. Fong, Fong Wan said he was broke except for the herb business.

It was the second marriage for Mrs. Fong. Her suit says there are no minor children and no community property.

Mrs. Fong also asks restoration of her maiden name.

The charity that hastens to proclaim its good deeds, ceases to be charity, and is only pride and ostentation.—William Hutton

Morailty Is Factor on Freeways: CHP

The California Highway Patrol will be among agencies cooperating in the "Moral Emphasis" safe driving program now under way throughout the state, Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden said.

The campaign will point out that "safe driving involves more than mere physical dexterity in handling a vehicle; it also must include acceptance by every driver of his moral responsibility for the safety of others using the road," he said.

"Safe driving demands a knowledge of law, the vehicle and yourself, plus the wisdom to conscientiously apply that knowledge," he said.

Heading the program is the California Association of Insurance Agents. Others participating are safety councils, religious groups, and the California Traffic Safety Foundation.

Gay Nineties Vintage Piano Still Tinkling

An antique, ornate 1890 Bush and Gerts upright piano was sold by Mrs. Henry Wright, 35 Overhill Road, Orinda, with only one want ad in The Sun.

And W. S. Ingram, 3302 Springhill Road, Lafayette, rented an unfurnished 2-bedroom studio house with fireplace and tile floors with one Sun want ad.

These are typical results brought by the impact of Sun want ads. Sun adwriters, who hear of them every day, call them success stories.

Sun want ads get results like these because one Sun want ad has the impact of five, appearing in all five Sun publications: the 60,000-circulation Sun Shopping News, The Orinda Sun, The Walnut Creek Sun, The Pleasant Hill Sun and The Lafayette Sun.

A 14-word ad costs only $1.60, even less for multiple runs. Call a Sun adwriter at 284-4444 or 934-5000. Let The Sun tell a success story for you!

It's Rough on Polliwogs When Equator Is Near

(Editor's Note: Sun Associate Publisher Eleanor Silverman was aboard the Matson Line's "Monterey" when she wrote this third in a series of columns. Last week's column referred to the wonderful time she had driving golf balls into the ocean, and the accompanying picture so demonstrates. This week, pleasure is mixed with Polliwog troubles.)

By ELEANOR SILVERMAN

Equator Crossin, S.S. Monterey, November 7, 1962.

NOTICE TO POLLIWOGS (passengers who have never previously crossed the equator by ship) — By Order of King Neptune all Polliwogs must be present at 2:45 this afternoon, or suffer the consequences of royal wrath. It is advised that Polliwogs wear clothing that is not damaged by immersion in the waters of my realm.

(Signed) H.R.H. Neptunus Rex.

The grim-faced pirates displayed bare backs complete with such notices as "Room 331," "Mama, I love you," and "Something Happened On the Way Up."

Swinging their treacherous swords, these pirates jumped in position to grab the screaming Polliwogs. The white clothed doctors, pale faced with bloody hands, took positions behind the operating table.

King Neptune called forth the first screaming bathing suit clad girl. Amid a proclamation poem pronounced by the judge and interrupted only by dousings with buckets of water, Polliwog Number One was prepared for surgery with a covering of soapy, sudsy, creamy froth.

The doctor began sawing, and the operation was a success—several strings of hot dogs, dead fish and hardware had been removed. Now only the cure-all dousing in the pool remained.

One, two, three—in.

Smiling happily as she rose to the surface, she mugged the new look, sans soap, sans dutch cleanser, sans catsup, and sans foamy goop. A pink cheeked princess helped her out of the pool, immediately offering a nice clean towel, and guiding her carefully over the slippery cement.

A whisper broke the awesome quiet cast by the terrible consequences of this cruel initiation:

"At least, she brought a beautiful wig along with her."

One by one, the chosen Polliwogs met their cruel fate—operations by saw or shaving with soap and egg and cream shampoo. The cracking of eggs on a bald head is a never-to-be-forgotten sound.

Only once did a Polliwog dare to defy the power of the pirates to instigate a pool dousing. You see, there was this big guy, and he beat up the two pirates who were trying to throw him in. It was sad, indeed, to see the Polliwog jump in the pool on his own volition, just to get clean.

At last, King Neptune proclaimed that the children must appear for their initiation. The pirates reached out to grab their prey and the prey jumped out of seats and dashed forward at the chance to get in the fun.

There was one little quivering-lipped cherub who evidently didn't recognize Pirate Dad in disguise.

ABOARD THE S.S. Monterey cruising in the South Pacific, Sun Associate Publisher Eleanor Silverman finds time to develop her golf game with the help of an Australian professional golf champion.

For some reason—perhaps because she was clinging to Mama and screaming—the pirates walked right by her and must have forgotten to include her in the ceremony.

Small sighs could be heard in the audience:

"Why didn't I say 'yes' when they asked me to be part of the ceremony?

Honors for Co. Employees

In ceremonies before the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, 22 county employees received awards for service totalling 260 years with the county. Among them were the following from the central county area:

Fifteen Years: Albert Glendinning, appraiser, and Manuel Neves, laborer, both of Walnut Creek.

Ten years: Jack Port, civil engineer, Walnut Creek; Roy Bailey, civil engineer, Pleasant Hill; Sammy D. Johnson, civil engineer, Walnut Creek; and D. Minette Ebers, public health nurse, Walnut Creek.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS' Wocando Group of Orinda chose Juvenile Hall for their service project. Decorating birthday cakes at a recent meeting are, from left: Cynthia Hendrick, Patti Clusian and Annette Roegiers.

"JUST IN TIME," says Mrs. John Nettleton, right, at Juvenile Hall, as Mrs. Chris Roden, Camp Fire group leader, delivers one of the cakes. With five birthdays that day, the hall was "down to our last cake!" Sun photos by Lee Combs

Deck Juvenile Hall With Love

(Editor's note: This is a reminder to readers that the county's overcrowded Juvenile Hall has many needs: Christmas trees, ornaments, gifts, frozen birthday cakes, etc. In this county and season when the young ones in our own homes are remembered with such an abundance, The Sun suggests that individuals and organizations read this article to determine whether they can fill one of the voids which exists at the hall for lack of a volunteer service.)

By NINETTE ROEGIERS

Ted Cunningham, assistant superintendent at Juvenile Hall, Martinez, is dedicated to his job.

"We feel that it is our responsibility to provide wholesome treatment for the children who are at the hall because there is no other reasonable place for them to be . . . In order to provide more relaxed relationships between the staff and the children, uniforms and titles have been done away with," said Cunningham.

"We try to give the children something of value. Although we make no claim for achieving magic, we believe that we are helping them to ther next step, be it back to their own home or another institution."

THE HALL is divided into two sections.

The shelter care section is for neglected or abandoned children, known as the "Cottage Group." In the other section are children who are in some kind of trouble with the authorities.

A principal and seven teachers come in to give instruction. However, any Cottage Group children who are likely to be at the hall longer than three weeks, are registered with schools in the community, and school buses pick them up. This way, they continue a normal school experience.

Well behaved teenagers are permitted to work in the kitchen or assist the janitors without special supervision, giving a feeling of responsibility and trust.

USUALLY THERE are about 20 children in the Cottage Group. Now there are 45.

Owing to a lack of beds, some must sleep on the floor on mattresses. The overcrowding is due to a great need for foster homes. Anyone interested in providing a foster home for one or more children may apply to the probation department.

The Cottage Group is dressed almost entirely from donations of outgrown, but not outworn, clothing collected by volunteers. There is a steady need for these clothes for all ages from two through 18, boys and girls.

ABOUT NINE years ago, a group of local citizens came and asked if there was anything the community could do to help. The answer was a quick "yes," according to Cunningham. This started the Volunteer Auxiliary.

"It would be difficult now to do without the auxiliary," he says, "and it is recognized by the county board to give those services which cannot be supplied by county funds."

President of the Volunteer Auxiliary, Mrs. John Nettleton, has the interests and needs of the children very much at heart, and puts in many extra hours at her job.

"I see good things being accomplished," said Mrs. Nettleton.

THE AUXILIARY helps in large or small ways, enlisting groups or clubs to collect clothes, cakes, toys, provide transportation, etc.

Volunteers for special instruction are needed now.

Someone is wanted to teach the teenage girls from both groups how to sew. The girls like to make their own drapes and dresses for which materials and patterns are provided by the auxiliary.

It isn't necessary to be a professional to teach them, as most of the girls have never learned how to mend or do the simplest embroidery.

SOMONE TO give guitar lessons is wanted. This was started a couple of years ago, and proved very popular. There are two or three guitars at the hall, 'though nylon strings are needed.

Somone to teach square and folk dancing is wanted.

A library committee is needed as go-between for the hall and the county libraries, also to see that there is good reading available to the children.

THE TRANSPORTATION committee needs volunteers for outings of the Cottage Group.

Volunteers to read to and play games with the children of the Cottage Group are wanted.

Entertainment is always welcome. Dixie-land bands, singers of interesting slide programs.

There is a constant need for birthday cakes for the freezer (powdered sugar icing only) and new gifts for birthdays and Christmas. Any child at the hall on his or her birthday is given a gift and a birthday cake—if there is one.

CLOTHES, GOOD used toys (especially dolls) are needed. A special need at present for one family of six children who have been placed in foster homes, is two boy's bicycles, one tricycle and games.

A complete list of the needs may be obtained by calling Mrs. Nettleton, ACademy 8-3000, Ext. 475, or writing to her c/o Juvenile Hall, Arnold Industrial Highway, Martinez.

Both Cunningham and Mrs. Nettleton welcome visitors to the hall. Interested groups or clubs may call Mrs. Nettleton for an appointment.

THESE TOURS are conducted every Friday morning at 10 a.m. and anyone making the tour will more readily understand the needs of the hall. Anyone interested in helping will certainly find more than one way to do so.

When the children first arrive at the hall, they feel rejected—either by family or society. They are told that the visitors who come through the hall periodically are the ones who bring toys, cakes, etc., and are concerned about them.

THEREFORE, the children not only accept visitors without resentment, but appreciate their visits. They sometimes show an inclination to talk or as in the case of the smaller children, coming close to touch.

Capping Ceremony Held For Girl Hospital Aides

At capping ceremonies Wednesday, 26 Girl Scouts pledged themselves to a minimum of 30 hours of volunteer service as hospital aides in Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

The girls, who have received 10 hours of classroom instruction from Mrs. Max Fisher, Sue Wharton and Sharon Prater, have volunteered to work at a rate of two and one-half to four hours each week, according to Mrs. Kenneth Hallstone, president of the Diablo Valley Girl Scout Council.

"Few other scout programs better illustrate Diablo Valley girls' willingness to serve," Mrs. Hallstone said following the ceremony.

"And," she added, "they are not serving for badges, ranks or remuneration, but simply for the sake of service."

THAT THE pledge will be kept is borne out by past experience, Mrs. Hallstone explained.

In addition to those capped today, the president said, 11 other girls are continuing hospital aide service, after having completed their pledge.

They, and the hours they have served, are:

Ann Clyatt, 78; Ann DeBois, 80; Sharon Prater, 56; Kay Courtwright, 55; Janet Jones, 32; Christine Dawson, 34; Kathy Doran, 102; Mary Hammond, 36; Judy Jacobsen, 32; Barbara Paulson, 58; and Arten Rollman, 30.

Eleanor Wilson Appointed to Probation Post

Mrs. Eleanor T. Wilson has been appointed to the position of foster home recruitment deputy for the Contra Costa County Probation Department.

Mrs. Wilson, who has an MSW in social work from the University of Denver, has been a deputy in this department for the past 10 years as a placement deputy.

Before coming to this department, Mrs. Wilson was a child welfare consultant for the State of Idaho, Department of Public Assistance.

She was a field supervisor for the Denver University School of Social Work, and also a field supervisor for Oklahoma University School of Social Work.

Plant Permanent Christmas Tree

Having a Christmas tree that stays green and fresh during the holidays is a special treat. And having one that stays green through several holiday seasons is almost too good to be true.

You can have this, however, when you turn your back on the practice of buying cut trees and invest, instead, in the pleasure of a "living" Christmas tree for your family.

LIVING CHRISTMAS trees are becoming more and more a fixture in Contra Costa homes. They are, at least, judging by the number of coniferous evergreens which members of the California Association of Nurserymen report selling this time of year.

Many of these trees are for exterior use, of course, but many others are being used indoors, then kept in containers through the years for use again and again.

The advantages are many. In addition to having that permanent freshness, you have a handsome container tree for your patio or terrace during the spring, summer and fall.

THERE ARE several conifers which lend themselves to use as living Christmas trees.

In many parts of the state, a white fir makes as fine a tree as you could hope for. Bushy and pyramidal in its growth pattern, the white fir has proved itself on many a Christmas tree lot. Douglas fir, another standard of the seasonal trade, is also available in some CAN nurseries, but its distribution is rather limited.

Ask a CAN nurseryman about the Colorado spruce, the Alberta spruce and the Norway spruce. The first two are popular for their "blue" foliage, and the latter is especially popular with those who grow it as an outdoor tree.

You can use it indoors for a year or two, then give it a spot which permits its use for outdoor decoration. All the spruces have a neat orderly look about them, with short needles and full growth.

Among the pines, the favorite in recent years has become the Monterey pine.

Monterey pines make a bushy, pyramidal growth when they are young, but after a few years, they outgrow their use as Christmas trees to become one of our most distinctive specimen trees, with wide-spreading branches.

Enjoy them indoors while you can.

A CALIFORNIA trademark at Christmas is the Deodar cedar. It is the traditional outdoor Christmas tree — a silvery blue specimen of true pyramidal growth.

Try using it indoors for a season or two, then planting it out.

The Scotch pine is worth knowing. It has a dense growth of blue-green needles, shorter than a Monterey pine but not so short as the spruces.

Aleppo pine is another which deserves special consideration for outdoor plantings. It adapts to all California climates, even desert climates which are normally harsh on conifers.

LIKE ALL plants, conifers find indoor conditions difficult to live with for long, and special care should be taken to insure their good health through the holiday season. They prefer temperatures that are not excessive.

It is often unpleasant to keep heat too low during December, but try not to overheat a room with a living Christmas tree in it. Water it lightly twice a week, also, to insure adequate moisture.

When the holiday is over, move the tree outside as soon as possible, but not before you've had full use of it.

Dryer Has Edge Over Sunshine

They continue to hang their sheets on the line—even though they may have a dryer sitting idle indoors. And it's true. Automatic dryers tend to yellow white muslin. But so does too much sun.

TESTS MADE by textile specialists at the Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station in Stillwater show that six hours in the sun produce nearly as much yellowing as a run in the automatic dryer.

The homemaker who really wants her white clothes to stay white will hang them indoors. Or, she'll put them outdoors in the shade. Sheets hung in bright sunshine for an hour and a half also showed little yellowing. But beyond that—for six hours, say—there was visible difference in whiteness.

Besides, six hours in the sun will weaken the fabric in a sheet. Even unbleached muslin suffers when left in the sun that long.

SO, IF YOU prefer to hang your sheets outdoors—so they get that fresh-air smell—do it wisely. Hang them in the shade or in a limited amount of sunshine—only long enough to get them dry.

If the choice is between sunshine and the dryer—choose the dryer. It's quicker and easier, and often more convenient for the busy homemaker. And the difference in yellowing is negligible.

Another cause of yellowing may be that the clothes are carrying a residue of detergent. Be sure you are using the correct amount of detergent—not too much and measure the amount accurately.

If it is possible use a water-conditioner in the final rinse to remove all traces of detergent.

Ranunculus Can Be Planted Now

Ranunculus, that brightly colored "buttercup" of spring, can be planted now through winter in one of two ways. According to CAN members, they are available either as "bulbs" or as seedling plants in nursery flats.

The tuberous rooted bulbs will give you more bloom per plant. Set them down two inches only and protect the sprouting plants from birds. Seedlings have the advantage of being big enough and tough enough to be unattractive to birds.

DECK SPACING

Many women complain that deck boards are spaced too far apart allowing their heels to catch in the cracks. Ideal spacing is to place an ordinary metal washer between the boards. This gives about an eighth inch spacing, which is adequate for water drainage.

'How Can We Lower Ceiling?'

QUESTION: The ceilings in our house are very high. How can they be made to seem lower?

ANSWER: Although white ceilings reflect maximum light, this high ceiling would be lowered in appearance by using a light, warm color.

Garden CHECK-LIST

PREPARED BY THE CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

1. When you Christmas shop this year, remember the flower-loving friend. Azaleas, cyclamen, heathers are all in bloom now.
2. Spring-flowering bulbs should be planted without delay. Supply is shorter on these than it was in October, but a good variety of daffodils and tulips is still available.
3. Scatter snail pellets in flower beds and borders to combat the new brood of slugs and snails this month.
4. For unusual winter color, try planting Christmas rose. It blooms from near the end of December into spring.
5. Order new roses early to insure getting the varieties you want.

Some Minor Bulbs Have Major Roles

When the spotlight swings to spring bulbs, it usually lands on the stars of the show—the daffodils and tulips, or hyacinths and freesias. But don't overlook those others back in the shadow. Even minor bulbs can play a major role in your spring garden.

To many a gardener few sights of spring are more appealing than a clump or drift of grape hyacinths. Their clear blue — which forms in a grape-like cluster at the tip of a straight stem — mixes well with freesias and in front of daffodils.

Try them also in a ring around the base of a tree or cram a dozen into a six-inch pot and use them for accent on terrace or patio.

Another spring favorite with gardeners who have discovered it is the sparaxis. Blooms of the sparaxis resemble a large freesia or a small gladiolus — take your pick — and once planted they increase at an incredible rate to provide a bigger and better planting each year. Flowers are usually bi-color; red with black center, white with yellow center. But an occasional variety shows solid color.

The snowflake, with its cluster of dainty white and green tipped flowers is a bulb you can plant and forget, come what may. It increases year after year with few apparent demands as to lifting and dividing.

Its deep green, daffodil-like foliage is not unattractive when left to ripen off after bloom.

City, County Will Share Mapping Costs

An aerial photographic mapping survey of 8264 acres in and around Walnut Creek will begin soon as a joint city-county project.

The County Board of Supervisors has announced an agreement reached with the City of Walnut Creek, under which the county will pay $8500 of the $14,973 costs, the balance to be paid by the city.

Charles O. Greenwood of Sacramento will conduct the survey. County Public Works Director Victor Sauer said the map, which will be used in road and highway planning, should be completed within six or eight months.

The board has approved similar projects for the Vine Hill and Concord areas, Sauer said.

Postmaster Warns: Mail Early and Mail Correctly

Postmaster H. T. "Doc" Crandell this week announced pointers for Christmas mailing which may help you have a happier holiday—and guarantee prompt arrival of your cards and gifts.

1. Do your shopping for your Christmas parcels now.

2. Check and revise mailing lists.

3. Mail Christmas parcels promptly. Don't worry about being too early — just mail them marked, "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

4. Buy Christmas cards and address them soon, separating cards into out-of-town and local bundles. Hold them for mailing early.

5. Buy plenty of stamps now while post office windows are uncrowded.

Their use insures first class mail treatment — meaning the card may contain personal messages, may be sealed and may be forwarded or returned.

For example, if someone has moved without telling you, your card will be forwarded to him (presuming he has left a forwarding address). If the card cannot be forwarded, it will be returned to you (provided you have put your return address on the envelope as your postmaster has asked).

TO SPEED Christmas card handling, letter carriers and post offices will have free supplies available of free "local" and "out of town" bands starting tomorrow.

And — just as an additional peace-of-mind safeguard about parcels this Christmas — the Postmaster General urges you to insure them.

He noted that—despite the Department's efforts over many years to promote good packaging and addressing—the Postal Service each year has been unable to deliver, or return, about half a million parcels, including many lost because of poor packaging or incorrect addressing.

"IT ALWAYS mystifies us," Postmaster General Day observed, "why a person will spend a lot of time and money to select and buy a gift and then will take about 10 seconds to package it and even less time to address it."

Another situation that discourages veteran postal employees is that when they finally manage to decipher an address on a parcel—they find it is completely erroneous — addressed to the wrong street or sometimes even to the wrong city and wrong state.

Once a local post office has exhausted all efforts to make delivery or return a parcel, and has held it unclaimed for the standard 90 days, the parcel is usually lost for the sender or intended recipient.

100 Swim Pools Sold by Orinda Pools to Gentry

"If they're 'cheaper by the dozen' they ought to be better by the hundred," said developer Tom Gentry as he bought 100 swimming pools, recently.

An agreement to build 100 pools, the largest such project ever undertaken on the West Coast, has just been made between Donald L. Doughty, president of Orinda Pools, Inc. in Lafayette, and Gentry, developer of Silver Gate Homes in Dublin.

An owner will have his choice of a teardrop, boomerang or kidney shaped pool, 15 by 30 feet in size. The two firms expect to complete the project by the end of the next building season.

Gentry, who lives in Walnut Creek, has developed several residential areas in Contra Costa County. The new tract is in Alameda County, between Hayward and Pleasanton.

Doughty, who has been building pools in the Bay Area for seven years, is slated to become top man in his industry in January when he will take office as president of the National Swimming Pool Institute at a convention in Miami.

King and West Donate Bonanza King Portrait

A portrait of John Mackay, Bonanza king, considered an important find by historians and art connoisseurs alike, was donated recently to the California Historical Society by partners in a local investment firm.

Charles H. King of Oakland and Marguerite V. West of Lafayette, with King and West offices in Walnut Creek, presented the gift at a special ceremony at the San Francisco "Mansion" home of the society, November 10.

The portrait, by Hans Meyer-Kassel, European artist known for his hanging in the State Capitol, was discovered by Mrs West and King in Genoa, Nevada, this summer.

Following the presentation, Mrs. Hawkins spoke briefly on the life of her famous grandfather, who with three other "Bonanza Kings", struck the world's biggest silver deposit in the Comstock Lode

PHONE US TODAY ABOUT LISTING YOUR PROPERTY FOR SALE!

WE SAY WHAT WE'LL DO!

We tell you in advance what price you can expect to get. We don't name an "extra-fancy" price just to get your listing and hope that you'll come down afterwards. We don't promise the moon and later deliver only a handful of stardust. We come down to "brass tacks" right away, and when we say we'll get you $15,000 you can bank on it. It'll be a cold day in July when we tell you $20,000 for a $15,000 home just to get the listing!

WE DO WHAT WE SAY!

Put a "proper price" on your home . . . that's the way to sell it quickly. Ask for TOO MUCH and you frighten people away! Care Course Awards Made

The District III Junior Hi Camp Fire Girls from Danville, Alamo, Walnut Creek, Lafayette and Orinda completed a child care course at the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church last Saturday.

The police and fire departments were helpful to the Camp Fire leaders in compiling information for the course, according to spokesman, Mrs. David B. Whittet.

'Greatest Era' Predicted for County Growth

Contra Costa County is on the doorstep of its greatest era of development, according to Barney Gilbert of the Contra Costa Board of Realtors.

Gilbert spoke at a meeting of the Contra Costa County Development Association's Committee as a representative of the realtor group.

The meeting, at which Capt. E. B. Mott of Pleasant Hill presided, was held to discuss means of closer cooperation between the booster group and the realty board in inducing location of industrial and commercial enterprises.

A similar meeting with officials of the county's chambers of commerce will be held in January.

Out-of-Town Liquor Fees Return $25,000

The unincorporated area of Contra Costa County has received $25,520 as its six-month share of the fees paid by holders of alcoholic beverage licenses in the area.

The payment was made by the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control which allocated 90 per cent of all license fee money back to individual cities and counties to be used for the many branches of services offered by local governments.

The remaining 10 per cent goes into the state general fund.

The most recent payment was for the six-month period ending August 31.

In addition to the unincorporated area payment, individual cities within the county each received a share of the fees, with the grand total for Contra Costa County amounting to $88,056.

Please Note:

Buffalo, the one-time masters of our great plains, were almost extinct. Now, thanks to conservation and the herd building dreams of a few people, a large herd of buffalo is being expanded. The B-Bar-B ranch in Gillette, Wyoming, decided they could release a part of the herd annually to consumer sales, and Safeway has used its facilities for this purpose.

Our buffalo sale last year lasted only a few hours in some stores but the memory of the taste treat still prompts many of our customers to ask, "When will we have buffalo again?"

Safeway recently offered B-Bar-B buffalo in frozen form in order to test a different method of dispensing buffalo meat. Our recent experiences, plus the experience of a year ago, lead us to believe the fresh cut display of buffalo you'll see at Safeway today, is the BEST we've ever offered. BEST, because we've selected only the finest, young, well-fed buffalo and given each carcass proper age.

Many of our stores will sell out of buffalo the first day it's offered and it will be the Fall of 1963 before we can present another such sale. If you are interested in trying buffalo this year, please come in early and select from a complete display.
